- Attention: American Studies, Anthropology, & History Doctoral Students - There is a new grant opportunity through the Omohundro Institute’s Georgian Papers Program (GPP) in coordination with the Dean’s Research Fund. This is intended to help fund W&M doctoral students conduct research in the trove of Georgian materials housed at the Royal Archives in Windsor Castle’s Round Tower. This is a terrific opportunity for students doing research in British, American, and Atlantic history in the period of George III’s reign. See the attached Request for Proposals for details. Please see past GPP Fellows. Direct questions to Martha Howard at OIEAHC.

- Mandatory A&S New Graduate Student Orientation will be Monday, August 28th 2017 from 9am - 5pm in the Sadler Center

- The W&M Wind Ensemble seeks strong wind and brass players for the spring semester. Trumpet players especially. If you’re looking for a musical extracurricular activity, contact Richard Marcus (rcmarcus@wm.edu) in the department of music. (757) 221-1086

- The Global Education Office in the Reves Center is currently accepting applications for two positions, Academic Director and Assistant Director of the Keio University/William & Mary Cross-Cultural Collaboration program. Keio/W&M Cross-Cultural Collaboration is a program centered on experiential learning which allows both Japanese and American students to study questions of cultural difference and national identity. ANNOUNCEMENTS

- Crowdfunding at W&M. We are excited to announce the launch of Tribefunding, William & Mary’s approach to crowdfunding. Qualifying projects should have the potential to transform William & Mary and have broader impact on local and/or global communities. Preference will be given to projects that incorporate collaboration between students and faculty/staff. To submit a project or for more information, visit giving.wm.edu/crowdfunding

- NASA DEVELOP Program Opportunities. This is a great opportunity for a paid internship opportunity for current students and recent college graduates with the NASA DEVELOP Program. This is for those who are interested in practical applications of remote sensing and GIS, specifically in the field of Earth Science. Our projects focus on addressing local and international community concerns while utilizing NASA’s Earth observations. Participants will work with NASA scientists and partner organizations to learn about the use of NASA remote sensing imagery for use in water resources, disaster management, ecological forecasting, and other applications to address environmental community concerns. Details about the internship and how to apply can be found at http://develop.larc.nasa.gov/. The summer internship application window is open from January 9th - February 17th, and the term starts June 5th and lasts through August 11th. We also have spring and fall internships available.
• Stanford pilot Master's in Computer Science Education for Ph.D.s in other disciplines. The United States currently faces a critical shortage of computer science faculty at a time when student interest in the field is expanding rapidly. To address this shortfall, the Stanford Computer Science Department has created a new Master’s program in Computer Science Education designed specifically for people who already hold a Ph.D. in another discipline and who already have a track record of success as teachers. The goal of this one-year program is to prepare students to take teaching positions in colleges and universities that are currently unable to hire faculty in computer science. The admissions deadline for the program has been extended until February 10, 2017. Please feel free to direct students to the following web page describing the course, and any questions they have can be directed to Chris Gregg. More

• The NASA Education 2017 Aeronautics Scholarship and Advanced STEM Training and Research (AS&ASTAR) Fellowship Activity solicitation is now available. The solicitation is a call for independently conceived graduate research proposals that are a response to your NASA Research Opportunity found in the document. Please visit NASA Education 2017 Research Announcement (NRA): Aeronautics Scholarship and Advanced STEM Training and Research (AS&ASTAR) Fellowship solicitation. Proposals are due February 24, 2017. Please send out this information to your partner institutions and any student organizations. If you have any questions concerning the solicitation please contact Elizabeth Cartier.

• NASA announces a call for graduate fellowship proposals to the NASA Earth and Space Science Fellowship (NESSF) program for the 2017-2018 academic year. This call for fellowship proposals solicits applications from accredited U.S. universities on behalf of individuals pursuing Master of Science (M.Sc.) or Doctoral (Ph.D.) degrees in Earth and space sciences, or related disciplines. The deadline for NEW applications is February 1, 2017, and the deadline for RENEWAL applications is March 15, 2017. The NESSF call for proposals and submission instructions are located at the NESSF 17 solicitation index page at http://nspires.nasaprs.com/ - click on "Solicitations" then click on "Open Solicitations" then select the "NESSF17" announcement.
