WILLIAM & MARY
CHARTERED 1693
history

2nd oldest college in the nation, chartered on February 8, 1693, by King William III and Queen Mary II of England. We have educated four U.S. presidents and four Supreme Court justices, along with countless other notable alumni, including Jon Stewart, Mike Tomlin, NASA’s Chief Scientist, former Secretary of Defense and Glenn Close.

research

Our research culture places an emphasis on quality, selectivity and innovation. Our size fosters both collaboration and efficiency. William & Mary attracts the type of student who’s itching to explore a topic beyond the textbook. We’ve found that W&M students are ready—from day one—to work closely with our experienced faculty on research projects of real academic consequence.

rigor

William & Mary consistently attracts the most exceptionally talented high school seniors from across Virginia and around the world. A highly-selective Public Ivy, William & Mary students are passionate about learning. With a liberal arts focus, our students are not one-dimensional. Chemistry majors write poetry for the literary magazine, business majors volunteer in soup kitchens and football players star in Shakespeare. It’s all part of the proud intellectual culture at W&M, extending from the classroom to the dorm room and everywhere in between.
WHO are W&M students?

bright

81% of our students were ranked in the top 10 percent of their high school class and the middle 50th percentile on the SAT was 1270-1470. Our average acceptance rate is 33%. Additionally, we are one of the top producers of U.S. Fulbright Students in the country and our top graduates get into medical school at nearly twice the national average.

passionate

75% of our students participate in community service during their time at W&M, engaging in over 245,000 hours of service each year. With over 400 campus clubs and organizations to choose from, staying active and engaged at W&M isn’t an afterthought; it’s a way of life. Also, W&M has been a top-ranked producer of Peace Corp volunteers for universities of its size for over a decade.

diverse

Students come from 50 states, DC, and 76 foreign countries. 33% are students of color. Additionally, over 45% of students study abroad during their 4 years here, giving them a global perspective.
