

Looking to Hire a World-Class Intern?

College of William & Mary Students: Living, Studying and Available to YOU in DC

W&M students are here when you need them...

Interns are available during each semester throughout the year.

Spring: January – April

Summer: June – August

Fall: August – November

The William & Mary Washington Office runs credit-bearing programs that offer select W&M students an opportunity to combine intensive classroom study with related hands-on work at one of DC's many institutions.

Our programs give employers the benefit of hiring hard working, high achieving interns with DC-based W&M administrators as a contact throughout the internship.

...and benefit your organization in many ways.

- Students are admitted to our programs through a rigorous application and interview process. They are some of the best that William & Mary has to offer.
- Students are in DC to study a topic that relates to your organization. They are likely to settle in DC and enter your field upon graduation—giving you the first shot at hiring some of the nation's best and brightest.
- W&M administrators work to ensure that you and your intern have a mutually beneficial experience. Our staff will meet with you before, during, and after the semester to discuss and evaluate the internship.
- Whether paid or unpaid, our students are available 30-40 hours a week to work as a part of your staff.

WASHINGTON
DC

WILLIAM
& MARY

College of William & Mary | The Washington Office

1779 Massachusetts Ave., NW, Suite 810, Washington, DC 20036

www.wm.edu/dcoffice • 202-939-4000 • wmdcof@wm.edu

Accolades For Our Students

The intellectual contributions and energy of our W&M interns have made a real difference in our relations with senior officials from nations as diverse as Pakistan, Iraq, Lebanon, Turkey, Morocco and Yemen. Their work has assisted both the State Department and the Defense Department with some of the most challenging issues confronting senior officials today.

Rosaline Cardarelli, National Defense University

Our W&M intern was an absolute delight to work with. She was always enthusiastic, hardworking, professional and on time. Having the built-in support system through the W&M program really allowed her to settle into the internship.

Stephanie Keller, Jane Goodall Institute

Our organization truly benefited from the Fellow's work this summer. For this reason, Global Playground is very appreciative of the W&M Summer Institute for providing such an exceptional Fellow who consistently demonstrated commitment, intellectual curiosity and professionalism.

Edward Branagan, Global Playground

The W&M Summer Security Institute does more than just offer smart, hardworking students the opportunity to intern in the nation's capital; it offers organizations through the city dedicated employees who think on their feet, problem solve and write powerfully—many of the most important traits for working in fast-paced national security environments.

Brad Potter, Oak Ridge Associated Universities

