

COLL
300

Sustainability, Our Built Environment, and Our Culture

Zena Howard

February 28, 2018
Wednesday, 5:00pm

Commonwealth Auditorium,
Sadler Center

Sponsored by:

Center for the Liberal Arts
Dean's Office, Arts & Science
50th Commemoration Planning Committee
Center for Student Diversity

For more information:

<http://www.wm.edu/cia>

Zena Howard has more than 25 years of experience as an architect focusing on sustainable design. Among other projects, she was the Senior Project Manager of the National Museum of African American History and Culture. Her life's work has focused on the role of architecture in shaping and being shaped by a community's or a nation's cultural, social, and environmental concerns. As society places greater emphasis on architecture in relation to human problems and values, Zena Howard's experiences broaden our understanding of these relationships.

AFRICAN AMERICANS
at William & Mary | 2017

BUILDING on the LEGACY

WILLIAM & MARY
CHARTERED 1693