

A&S Distinguished Thesis Award in the Natural and Computational Sciences

These awards of $250 were established by the Arts & Sciences Graduate Studies Advisory Board in 2004–2005 to recognize exemplary achievement in graduate student research. Master's theses must be based on original research and contribute to the discipline, and are judged by a panel of scholars.

Sara Kampfe

“Processing and Conversion of Algae to Bioethanol”