Planning to Teach English Overseas? or English as a Second Language in the U.S.?

This is the course that you need!

MDLL 347 Teaching English Overseas

MWF 8:00-8:50 Washington Hall 317 [3 credits]

This course is designed for students planning to teach English as a Foreign Language overseas or English as a Second Language in the United States.

Among the issues we will explore in this course:

- ways in which social, political, economic and cultural factors can influence the overseas classroom,
- how a country’s educational and institutional structures can affect language teaching,
- important elements of cross-cultural communication, and
- practical strategies and techniques for effectively teaching English as a second or foreign language.

Students will design and prepare a series of lessons for a short course in ESL/EFL appropriate to the setting in which they plan to teach.

This is one of the required courses for the TESL/TEFL Minor Program (in the Dept of Modern Languages & Literatures) and for the English as a Second Language Endorsement Program in the School of Education.

For further information, contact Professor Katherine Kulick, Dept of Modern Languages & Literatures, 205 Washington Hall [kmkuli@wm.edu]