AY 2015-16 - Oman Study Tour // Nature and Culture// Rock-Music, Oman

In Spring and Fall 2015, Professor of Geology, Christopher Bailey and I developed, in consultation with the Reves Center for International Studies, an interdisciplinary January-term study abroad program for 15 students. This course is a pilot project for the University-wide new curriculum We coordinated our travel to Oman in January 2015 where we held a series of meetings with everyone from the ministry of culture to the American Ambassador, Greta Holtz. We taught pre-trip courses in the fall semester and I did the lion's share of communications with various colleagues from my research network in Oman, to develop a rich itinerary of cultural experiences for our students. The study tour, involving 15 students, occurred in December 30-January 16, 2016 with projects and presentations occurring back on campus in Spring 2016. We plan to repeat the program in 2018.

2011-2014 – Initiatives as Chair, Department of Music.

Initiated funding campaigns that resulted in $100,000 of new support for the Department and particularly the renovation of the Ewell Concert Hall.

Oversaw the successful application for a “Creative Adaptation Grant” of $50,000 from the office of the Provost as well as its implementation through the development of MUSIC 210: Music and the Liberal Arts, course for which the entire faculty shares responsibility.

Hired two new department administrators and choreographed two retirements.

Closely mentored and collaborated with junior faculty.

Nurtured and oversaw the difficult process of revising the departments degree requirements.

Oversaw and wrote all of the reports for the external review of the Department of Music.

Sorted out the FICA mess of 35 applied faculty members.

Advocated for increased responsibilities and compensation of various applied faculty.

Member of Master Plan Committee for the entire campus and Provost Search Committee for the Dean of Arts and Sciences, and Building Committee for New Arts Facility, Phase One.

Advocated tirelessly (and successfully) to retain a promised tenure-eligible position for the Director of Orchestras, who had been hired into a temporary non-tenure-eligible one-year position.

Continued, beyond my tenure as chair, to advocate aggressively and successfully for ethnomusicologist and Mellon Fellow, Michael Iyanaga to join our faculty in a tenure-eligible position (to begin Fall 2017).

2009-2010 - Co-Director, Asian Studies Initiative: Appointed by Dean Carl Strikwerda along with Hiroshi Kitamura, History. Charged to administer 1/3 of $300,000 Freeman Foundation Grant (with 150,000 matching funds from William and Mary). Designed (along with 8 faculty colleagues) new interdisciplinary program in Asian and Middle Eastern Studies called AMES with 2 major and 4 minor courses of study.

2006-2010 - Chair, Middle East Studies Faculty (elected by faculty colleagues, invited John Eisele to co-chair MEFAC during the final year). Responsibilities include administering $30-35,000 annual budget from the Critchfield Endowment and producing many of the events associated with this fund; advising 10-20 Middle East Studies majors; responding to all calls from Global Studies including an outside review and graduation for International Relations/Global Studies Students; initiating and planning the first Critchfield Conference in Middle East Studies, held Spring 2009 (and held for the second time Spring 2011); negotiating convoluted lines of communication between the Director of the Reves Center for International Studies, the Dean of College of Arts and Sciences, Global Studies and Individual Faculty, and preparing a detailed annual report.

1993-present - Service to the wider college community: ambitious and enthusiastic organizer of lectures, concerts, and other events, open to the public and featuring an array of guest scholars and artists to the College of William and Mary.

Service to the College and to the Profession: Conferences Hosted at William and Mary

- 3/13 Assistant for Local Arrangements for the Conference of the Mid Atlantic Chapter for the Society for Ethnomusicology. Conference host: Max Katz.

4/98 Host and local arrangements chairperson for the annual meeting of the Mid-Atlantic Chapter of the Society for Ethnomusicology (MACSEM).

Service to the Profession

2017-17 – Initiatives as President, Society for Ethnomusicology (2,000 +/- members with annual conference of 1,000 +/- participants). President-elect 2014, Past-president 2018.

Daily engagement with Society matters, communications, publications, issue of public statements on behalf of the Society, coordination with other scholarly societies, SEM Board and SEM Council members. As SEM President, I am a delegate to the American Council of Learned Societies (with an annual meeting in the Spring). I am also Chair, National Committee for the USA, for International Council of Traditional Music (ICTM). Finally, I am member of the board of Directors, American Folklife Center, Library of Congress, Washington, D.C. (with required board meetings in Fall and Spring semesters).

My initiatives as SEM President include: 1) bringing attention to the contemporary dynamics of migrants and refugees with two presidential round tables and inviting Professor Sheherazade Qasim Hassan, originally from Iraq and now living in France, the first colleague from the Arab world and the first colleague from beyond north America in 19 years to deliver SEM's prestigious Seeger lecture; 2) Liaising with international colleagues through attendance a number of international conferences including two ICTM world conferences, two ICTM study group meetings, an ICTM Colloquium, and the first SEM/ICTM forum; with a second joint meeting planned for Beijing in 2018; 3) encouraging professional development workshops that focus on skills and careers beyond the academic professorate; 4) drafting and coordinating official statements of political advocacy from the SEM Board and membership; and encouraging open dialogue and expression among various constituents among the membership; 5) putting the planning committee in place for the Society's next Strategic Plan. 6) General advocacy for ethnomusicology as a public humanity and for undergraduate Ethnomusicology through my formal communications with the SEM members.

Additional Service to the Society for Ethnomusicology

- 2013-15: Elected Second Vice President of the Society for Ethnomusicology. Numerous new initiative accomplished in this position in addition to the regular duties of the position, including: resurrection of SEM's liaison program; inauguration of Program Directors' Meeting; planning and implementation of two SEM Board-sponsored panels on Ethnomusicology and Public Policy.
