

WILLIAM & MARY
 NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF
 AMERICAN HISTORY & DEMOCRACY

Public History & Material Culture

Certificate Requirement Checklist

Note that you are not required to take the courses below in any particular order.

Course	✓	Semester + Course Information
Public History (HIST 409) or Public History in the 21st Century (HIST411)
Architectural Field School (HIST 406) or Material Culture Field School (HIST 407) or Field School for Historic Interpretation (HIST413) or Archaeological Field Methods (ANTH 225) or related field school
NIAHD Internship in Public History (HIST 408) or related Internship*
At-large Course #1
At-large Course #2
At-large Course #3
At-large Course #4

*More information and examples of recent NIAHD internships are available on our Internship webpage.

At-large courses should deepen your approach to the study of public history, U.S. history, and democracy. Courses may be chosen from available NIAHD course offerings or students may designate other relevant courses in History or from other disciplines. You should consult with NIAHD’s program directors, Prof. Julie Richter (cjrich@wm.edu) or Prof. Robyn Schroeder (rschroeder@wm.edu), to be sure your electives will count toward certificate completion.