NEW THIS FALL
AT Osher AT W&M

It’s Fall at the Osher Institute, and the semester promises to be as crisp, colorful, and full of adventure as the College Woods that surround us. Here’s what’s bright and new at Osher:

Classes return to Old Campus! We’ll be in Little Theatre and Colonial Echo (former home of the university’s yearbook staff, thus the name) in Campus Center, as well as Tucker Hall (near the Sunken Garden)

Other on-campus class locations include Keck Lab, Swem Library, and the School of Education

131 courses in 13 subject areas, including 60 new offerings
Collaborations with other Osher Institutes and national speakers
Streamlined scholarship application process (p. 30)
Improved course evaluation: five quick questions
Expanded Class Selection Worksheet: all class details in a single chart (p. 23-30)

Optional “after-class chat” for selected courses — 30 minutes of follow-on discussion with the instructor and classmates

A field trip to the Surry woods (p. 11), plus member favorites: stargazing at Kiskiack (p. 39); tours of Old Campus (p. 42), Swem Library (p. 44), and the Mariners’ Museum (p. 10)

See you in September!

During the April 2023 Old Campus walking tour, an Osher class struck a pose with Thomas Jefferson on the occasion of his 280th birthday.

The People of Osher

Some of us work behind the scenes. Others are at the head of the class – after spending hours, weeks, months to develop a course that will pique interest and deliver knowledge with excellence. Still others lend a hand with time, talent, and enthusiasm to support staff, instructors, and the program. Many more join in simply for the love of learning.

Together, we are the members, member-volunteers, instructor-volunteers, leadership council volunteers, and staff that make the Osher Institute at William & Mary the one-of-a-kind, remarkable and inspiring, not-to-be-missed experience that it is.

To each of you — thank you.

GOOD TO KNOW

FALL 2023 POLICIES & PROCEDURES

Membership & Attendance
You must be an Osher Institute at W&M member to register for and attend courses, one-time lectures, activities or special events. Please select classes intending to attend every session. Absences result in underused resources, loss of a seat for a member on a wait list, or a less beneficial experience in courses where a minimum number of members is essential to discussion or an activity.

Early Registration
Early registration opens on July 17 at 8am and closes July 26 at 5pm. Members may select up to 8 courses and any number of one-time classes. Early registrants are included in the lottery for oversubscribed courses and automatically put on the wait list for classes they did not get a seat in. Class schedules are sent to early registrants via email by Aug. 18.

Open Enrollment
Registration reopens on Aug. 21 at 8am and closes on Oct. 31 at 5pm. Members who missed early registration may now enroll immediately in classes with available seats. Early registrants may also add classes at this time. The limit of 8 multi-session courses and any number of one-time classes applies. If a class you would like a seat in is at capacity, call us at (757) 221-1506 to be placed on the wait list.

Parking on Campus
A valid W&M Osher parking permit is needed to park on campus. For the 2023-24 academic year, members have two permit options. Both types are valid August 2023-August 2024.

Standard permit ($16). Valid only for School of Education (SOE) student lots 1, 2, 4 & 5 and Kaplan Arena student lots.

Plus permit ($41). Includes the standard Osher hang tag to park in student lots at SOE and Kaplan PLUS riding privileges on the Williamsburg Area Transit Authority (WATA) Route No. 8 bus that loops the W&M campus.

The No. 8 (aka “Green Line”) bus originates at SOE and runs to the Grad Complex and back with stops near Old Campus/Campus Center, Keck Lab, and McCormack-Nagelsen Tennis Courts.

Plus permit holders use the standard hang tag to park at SOE or Kaplan, then present a special ID to the WATA driver to ride to/from a stop near their class location. See p. 53 for information about locations and walking distances. Plus permits are available only through the Osher office. See p. 51 for details.

Payment & Refunds
Osher membership fees help cover our operating expenses and are used entirely to support Osher at W&M. Membership fees apply each term and are not directly related to how many classes you take.

Fall 2023 dues are $175. Payment is due in full when you register. We accept MasterCard, Discover, American Express, VISA, or by check payable to William & Mary.

You may request a refund through Sep. 11 by email to osher@wm.edu. A $15 service fee applies. There are no “per class” fees; thus, no “per class” refunds. Parking permits, gift certificates, and fees for materials, event/transportation, etc. are nonrefundable.

CLASS TIPS
Class handouts are emailed for you to print on your own. Per W&M’s sustainability initiatives, copies are not available in class.

Instructors may choose to share their class notes and slides. If available, you’ll find them at wm.edu/osher under “Class Info”

Zoom links are emailed the day prior to class

Dropping a Class
To drop a class, notify us as soon as possible at osher@wm.edu or (757) 221-1506. This allows us to offer the seat to a member on the wait list.

Wait List
When a seat opens in a class that is oversubscribed, we call and/or email the first person on the wait list. We will hold a seat for up to 24 hours before offering it to the next member on the wait list. Thanks for replying promptly.

Required & Suggested Reading
Instructors specify “Required Reading” when the material is essential to learning. “Suggested Reading” is useful but not essential. The library or a website like Project Gutenberg may have the information available for free.

Name Tags
Wear your current semester name tag to all Osher classes/events. You may also be asked to sign in. Name tags are emailed a week prior to the semester start for you to print/cut to size. Plastic name badge holders are available at the Osher office and Discovery 3 Classroom. If you have purchased an Osher Plus parking permit, your Osher name tag and valid Plus parking ID are required to ride the WATA No. 8 bus.

Inclement Weather
Our weather policy follows that of the university. Our voicemail greeting will confirm a closure (757-221-1506). You will not be notified personally.

Guest Requests
Classes and events are for members only. You may request a guest once a term, for a single class on a single date if the course is not fully subscribed. Pre-approval is required. Local guests must be considering membership. Call us at 757-221-1506 to request a guest.
EXTENDED! Notorious & Noteworthy: Williamsburg’s Pre-Restoration Era

Will Molineux
Monday, 9:30-11:30am
6 sessions
Sep. 11, 18, 25, Oct. 2, 9, 16
School of Education, Room 2066
34 seats available

Post-Civil War Williamsburg until the Restoration began in 1926 and is a noteworthy period in some surprising ways. Early endeavors to preserve colonial buildings included those by a disgraced clergyman, a mother memorializing her daughter, and a hotelier who distributed a fanciful guide for “curiosity hunters.”

At the time, Williamsburg was a town of less than 2,000 where the largest employer was a lunatic asylum; where a white policeman shot and killed a Black schoolteacher as townspeople watched; and where, at the turn of the century, the wealthiest citizen was a Black entrepreneur.

Trains that initially ran on Duke of Gloucester Street brought daytime excursionists, land speculators, and yeggmen – adventurers who came aboard to ensure that Williamsburg would never be known as a sleepy little town before its Restoration.

Will Molineux has been intrigued with Williamsburg’s past ever since he was graduated from W&M, first as a newsman with the Daily Press and in retirement as an amateur historian.

NEW! Classic American Stories: Fact or Fiction?

Bill Fetsko
Monday, 9:30-11:30am
1 session
Oct. 2
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

Did Betsy Ross really create the first American flag? Did Washington really chop down a cherry tree?

Stories such as these have been used for generations to reflect the values and beliefs of society. They are myths that are erroneous or fictitious, but traditional and widely held.

Even though myths aren’t usually accurate retellings of historical events, there is value in studying them. They provide insight into the historical period in which they were created. They give us some indication of who we are and would like to be, reflect our values and represent our ideals. We can study myths to gain an understanding of how our values endure as the stories change.

An examination of examples from America’s early history will be used to provide insight into a period of time during which they supposedly took place.

Bill Fetsko is a former public school teacher and administrator who currently is a curriculum consultant with Colonial Williamsburg. After 35 years in public education, he relocated to Williamsburg where he has assisted with the Foundation’s educational programs including their Summer Teacher Institute.

NEW! Loss of Innocence: From Let Me Call You Sweetheart to How Ya Gonna Keep ’Em Down on the Farm

Marilyn Younger
Monday, 1:30-3:30pm
3 sessions
Oct. 2, 9, 16
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

What was life like for those living in the U.S. in the 1910s? From Let Me Call You Sweetheart to How Ya Gonna Keep ’Em Down on the Farm, we’ll explore this period of transition from TR’s confidence to Wilson’s frustrated idealism and from labor unrest to foreign wars.

The roles of women and children were changing, and old traditions were giving way to new necessities. Speed seemed constantly increasing whether from a Tin Lizzie, more powerful trains, or an unsinkable ship that we soon learned was all too sinkable.
Despite great reluctance to enter the War, once committed, we fully supported the effort to make the world safe for democracy. We read newspapers, watched movies, hummed Berlin tunes, and fought off the Spanish flu as we welcomed sons and brothers’ home from the War. This is the first of a decades-based series of social history classes that focus on better understanding the daily lives of those who came before us.

Marilyn Younger retired from the Social Security Administration where she was data exchange program director. She holds a B.A. and M.A. in history and is a certified instructor for various leadership classes. She works part-time as an interpreter for Colonial Williamsburg and is a Certified Interpretive Guide of the National Association for Interpretation.

A Good Look at the First Ladies of the 1920s

Feather Foster
Tuesday, 9:30-11:30am
3 sessions
Oct. 3, 10, 17
Campus Center, Little Theatre
110 seats available

They didn’t roar. They didn’t flap. But they were a nifty bunch of gals!

This course re-examines the style and surprising influences of three very different FLOTUSes from nearly 100 years ago – with some great stories, too! Session 1: An in-depth look at Florence Harding, the tough and savvy Duchess. Session 2: The many graces of the Lady in Red: Grace Coolidge. Session 3: Lou Henry Hoover, and the surprising abilities of a Stanford graduate.

Feather Foster spent more than 35 years in advertising before starting a retirement career that has centered on First Ladies of the United States history, specifically the older gals. She has written four books on the subject. Among them are Mary Lincoln’s Flannel Pajamas and Other Stories from the First Ladies’ Closet.

Seeing the Future: Olmsted’s America

Patricia Ryther
Tuesday, 9:30-11:30am
3 sessions
Oct. 3, 10, 17
Zoom
30 seats available

Before he became the nation’s first landscape architect, Frederick Law Olmsted was a failed sailor, farmer, writer, and gold miner. His writings influenced international opinion on slavery, and his vision created a system of parks that would remain relevant for hundreds of years and serve all the people. With dogged perseverance, battling through personal tragedies, he made it happen. This course will focus on Olmsted’s life and world, a time of civil war, rapid nation-building, and the beginning of the American park system, which includes Central Park.

Patricia Ryther is retired from a career in banking and insurance, where her jobs included writing user manuals and other nonfiction. She has a degree in English literature and has taught at the community college level. In retirement, she is pursuing her lifelong interest in fiction writing.

The Lost Cause: How the South’s Post-Civil War Propaganda Campaign Won the Peace

Donna Dodenhoff
Tuesday, 1:30-3:30pm
3 sessions
Oct. 3, 10, 17
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

In the aftermath of the Union Army’s victory, influential Southerners began mounting a propaganda campaign aimed at reasserting the South’s white supremacist social order. Ultimately, Southerners were not alone in this effort. Drawing on recent scholarship, this lecture series will also explore the potent roles played by popular culture and early 20th century historians in crafting a history of the Civil War and Reconstruction that legitimated the relegation of African Americans to second-class citizenship. We will conclude with an examination of contemporary efforts to yield a more accurate interpretation of the Reconstruction era as a revolution in civil rights aimed at moving the nation toward a more perfect union.

From Colony to Commonwealth: An Examination of the Primary Sources

Mark Howell
Friday, 9:30-11:30am

Oct. 6, 13, 20
School of Education, Room 1056
40 seats available

Virginians underwent a sea of change during the American Revolution. Politically, socially, economically, religiously, there was not an aspect of life that was not affected to some degree by the assertion of independence and the war. This course does not use the traditional lecture format: instead, participants will read, analyze, and discuss transcriptions of rarely seen documents – including legislation, newspaper ads, diaries, and personal letters – that reveal these momentous changes.
Mark Howell is Director of Education at the Jamestown-Yorktown Foundation and has also worked at Colonial Williamsburg, the American Civil War Center, and the Library of Virginia. He is passionate about using primary documents in training and programming to evoke a sense of life in the 18th century.

NEW! I Can’t Tell A Lie: Parson Weems & the Truth About Washington’s Cherry Tree & Other Anecdotes

James Bish
Thursday, 9:30-11:30am
1 session
Oct. 12
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

This course examines the stories most Americans have heard about George Washington and thought were false, including the cherry tree and “I cannot tell a lie.” (In reality, George Washington first moved with his family at the age of three to Little Hunting Creek, aka Mount Vernon, and at about age six, owned a hatchet.)

Washington’s lifetime family associations, primarily his mother’s Ball family heritage, are studied in depth for the first time in this work, revealing much about Washington’s non-public life. Those Washington and Ball family associations, along with Weems’ family connections, expose the sources for Weems’ many anecdotes regarding Washington.

Jim Bish has a B.A. in education from the University of Nebraska-Kearney, an M.A. in history from the University of Nebraska-Omaha and completed doctoral work in American history at the University of Maryland. As a teacher and historian in the Prince William County area, he has learned much about colonial Virginia families, including the Washingtons and Balls. He helped found and served as the first president of Historic Prince William; has worked at the National Museum of the Marine Corps; and as a member of the Prince William County Historical Commission. He currently operates History Happened Here Tours, while also volunteering with the National Museum of American in Wartime Experiences and as a Culpeper County Museum Board member.

NEW! History of American Border Security and Immigration Control 1607-2017

Mike Collier
Monday, 9:30-11:30am
3 sessions
Oct. 23, 30, Nov. 6
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

This historical review of American border security and immigration control from 1607–2017 demonstrates that these areas have been a major concern since the arrival of the first Europeans to North America in the early 1600s. U.S. policy has varied widely over the past 200+ years. This class provides background and context of American border security and immigration control to provide better understanding of the current situations facing the country today.

Michael W. Collier spent 22 years as a U.S. Coast Guard officer followed by a 20-year career as a college professor, retiring from Eastern Kentucky University as an associate professor of homeland security. He is a graduate of the U.S. Coast Guard Academy and holds an M.S. in strategic intelligence from the U.S. Defense Intelligence College and a Ph.D. in international relations (foreign policy and security studies) from Florida International University.

NEW! Documenting the American Revolution

Holly Mayer
Monday, 1:30-3:30pm
3 sessions
Oct. 23, 30, Nov. 6
Campus Center, Room 159
50 seats available

American revolutionaries wielded words as weapons to destroy old orders and tools to construct new ones. What did they want and why? Course members will review the contexts and aims of Revolutionary-era documents to engage with those who wrote them. The course will begin with the Declaration of Rights and Grievances of the Stamp Act Congress in 1765 and trace the escalating protests to the Declaration of Independence in 1776. It will follow with the interaction of revolutionary rhetoric and actions in the construction of states, through their own constitutions, and nation in the Articles of Confederation and the Constitution of the United States.

Suggested reading: Declaration of Independence, Articles of Confederation, and the U.S. Constitution; all available free online

Holly Mayer earned a Ph.D. in history at William & Mary and retired as professor emerita at Duquesne University in Pittsburgh. She was also a visiting professor at the U.S. Army War College and the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. She served in the U.S. Army Reserve and has authored books and articles on 18th century American social and military history.

NEW! African American Soldiers in World War I

Joseph Johnson

Tuesday, 1:30-3:30pm
1 session
Oct. 24
Campus Center, Little Theatre
110 seats available

This course will follow the paths of the 380,000 African American Regular Army, National Guard and draftee soldiers who participated in World War I. Learn about their experiences from training camps to deployment to France, as well as their significant contributions in combat and as support troops. Finally, we will explore how their experiences in France would impact the civil rights movement when they returned to the United States.

Joe Johnson is chief of staff at the Defense Acquisition University and volunteers as president of the Fort Belvoir military history club. He majored in European history at Washington and Lee University prior to a career in the U.S. Army, which included instructor assignments at the Quartermaster School and the Command and General Staff College.

First in War and in the Hearts of His Countrymen: The Revolutionary Patriot, Dr. Joseph Warren

Christian Di Spigna
Wednesday, 1:30-3:30pm
1 session
Oct. 25
School of Education, Room 1056
40 seats available

We will explore all the new Warren research discoveries, opening new windows to his public career and private life.

Warren's resistance activities against Crown policies spanned more than a decade in the Boston area between 1765-1775. His efforts not only led to American independence, but his involvement predated many of the men we now esteem as our founders.

Christian Di Spigna received his degree in history from Columbia University where he began 20 years of research on Dr. Joseph Warren. In 2011, he moved to Colonial Williamsburg and began volunteering to continue researching 18th century history. Since the Warren biography's publication, he has delivered lectures about Warren throughout the country.

The Civil War Infantryman – North and South

Robert Jaffee
Monday, 9:30-11:30am
3 sessions
Nov. 13, 27, Dec. 4
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

Bring your Civil War collectibles

This course will illustrate the uniforms and accoutrements of infantry soldiers in the Civil War both North and South. We will show examples of and contrast the clothes, weapons, and accoutrements of both sides. We will also explore collecting of such items, their cost, and the ability to obtain. Attendees are welcome to bring their collectible Civil War items to discuss.

Robert Jaffee, MD, is a retired ophthalmologist by trade and an unretired collector of Civil War memorabilia for 60 years. With the purchase by his father of a Civil War bullet when 11 years old, he has continued to collect to the present. He has published a dozen articles on the subject in magazines that include North South Trader’s Civil War, The Gun Report and The Rail Splitter. He has also exhibited parts of his collection at Civil War trade shows. Through many auctions, dealers, and shows, he is intimately acquainted with the collector’s market.

NEW! The Menokin Glass House Project: Rebuilding the American Landscape

Alice French
Monday, 1:30-3:30pm
1 session
Nov. 13
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

Learn about the history of the Menokin Foundation, the extraordinary conceptualization and realization of the architectural Glass House Project, and how this ambitious project is impacting fresh perspectives of cultural representation. This one-of-a-kind initiative is a dynamic historic preservation of the 1769 Menokin House – National Historic Landmark and home of Francis Lightfoot Lee (a signer of the Declaration of Independence) – using glass to reconstruct floors, walls and other architectural elements. Located in Warsaw, VA, it offers an experiential line of sight to life on a Virginian tobacco plantation and one of the best-documented 18th century houses in America. In the process of making, we gather stories, share knowledge, teach new skills, and make history relevant. It is certain to fascinate modern denizens.
The History and Legacies of William & Mary Native American Iconography

Tyler Goldberger
Tuesday, 1:30-3:30pm
1 session
Nov. 14
Swem Library, Special Collections
35 seats available

To honor the 300th year anniversary of the opening of the Brafferton School, the Special Collections Research Center will use materials from the University Archives to engage learners with the myriad complexities of the university’s history. This lecture will interrogate the history and legacies of the William & Mary logo through its various iterations representing the “Tribe.” This session will engage with the iconographic evolution of William & Mary’s campus logo and its Native American imagery through a collection of photographs, manuscripts, artifacts, and more.

Tyler Goldberger, a research and instruction specialist for Swem Library’s Special Collections, will lead this Open House on Native American iconographies and images that have appeared as a part of William & Mary’s campus and branding throughout the 20th century. Participants will have the unique opportunity to interact with primary sources from the University Archives.

NEW! Development of the Far West (1840-1900)
Marilyn Younger

Wednesday, 9:30-11:30am
3 sessions
Nov. 15, 29, Dec. 6
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

The settlement of the Far West is more complex than portrayed in movies and TV. It relied upon a wide variety of skills and commitment beyond our usual understanding of wagon trains, gunslingers, and cavalry battles with Indians. While these things will be considered, this class will focus on development of the infrastructure that became the West, including the original Spanish institutions, mining and railroad engineers, and capital investors. We will explore the West’s spectacular geography – the mountain ranges, deserts, and isolated lush valleys that formed much of its character, as well as its hardships: the impact of earthquakes, weather extremes, and shortages of water.

From 1840 to 1900 settlers, investors, and religious leaders evolved solutions to challenges such as architecture, transportation, and communication. The lives led were much different than those portrayed in entertainment. Controversial proposals, such as the Bear Flag Republic and the State of Deseret, evolved into solutions that contribute to modern life.

Marilyn Younger retired from the Social Security Administration where she was the data exchange program director. She holds a B.A. and M.A. in history and is a certified instructor for various leadership classes. She works part time as an interpreter for Colonial Williamsburg and is a Certified Interpretive Guide of the National Association for Interpretation.

NEW! 1777: The Revolution’s Year of Decision
John Rogers

Wednesday, 9:30-11:30am
3 sessions
Nov. 15, 29, Dec. 6
Campus Center, Little Theatre
110 seats available

Early 1777 found the Continental Army in winter quarters in Morristown, NJ – cold, hungry, and discouraged. Victory at Trenton had raised morale but could not dismiss the fact that 1776 had been a year of defeats and retreats with little prospect of improvement in 1777. Could they endure another year like 1776? Could the Revolution survive another such year?

For the British, 1777 had been a year of victories (other than Trenton) but had frustrated in the inability to destroy the American Army and thereby ending the rebellion. Would additional troops and more aggressive campaign plans for 1777 bring the decisive victory before the French could openly join the Americans in their revolution?

The French were secretly aiding the Americans and were contemplating openly joining them in their war against Britain. But would the Americans ever be able to fight and defeat the British? Before making such a momentous decision, the French wanted evidence of American battlefield success. They continued their covert aid and watched and waited.

Did You Know?
The Tribe Script first appeared on the helmets of the 1981 football team. The Script was retired as the Athletics logo in 2018 in favor of the current mark (shown) that features the university initials. “Tribe” remains the nickname for the W&M athletics program today and is a nod to the university’s inclusive ethos.
1777 would prove to be a critical year for all concerned – a year of decision.

“Go West, Young Man...” Westward Expansion in American History and Mythology

Karen McPherson
Thursday, 2:30-4:30pm
3 sessions
Nov. 16, 30, Dec. 7
Tucker Hall, Room 127A
124 seats available

The quotation, “Go West, young man, and grow up with the country,” is attributed to an 1865 editorial written by New York newspaperman Horace Greeley (although no one has found these words in Greeley’s newspaper). But even if we cannot prove that Greeley actually wrote these words, he clearly agreed with the sentiment – along with virtually all Americans. The call of the West was a driving force throughout American history. In this course, we will examine the five Ws of westward expansion – Who moved Where, When, Why, and How. And perhaps most importantly: With what consequences?

Karen McPherson graduated from William & Mary and has an M.A. and Ph.D. in government from Catholic University and an M.A. in history from George Mason University. She also taught government and history in the public school system.

NEW! College Landing – An Intersection of Early American History

Richard Watkins
Tuesday, 9:30-11:30am
1 session
Nov. 28
School of Education, Room 1056
40 seats available

Many are familiar with early Colonial history as presented in the archaeological discoveries and recreated and restored structures on Jamestown Island and Colonial Williamsburg. But did you know you can find unrestored remnants of 18th Century corduroy roads, buildings, and survey markers just a mile south of Williamsburg? The location is now called College Landing, situated at the confluence of College and Paper Mill Creeks. Early European explorers and later farmers, venturing out from Jamestown Island, settled the area.

This course will review the history and geography of the area as researched by instructor Rich Watkins, including his personal explorations. Topics will include the building of a palisade, a port, the 1699 survey, original survey markers, tobacco exports, the paper mill, and corduroy roads.

After retiring from the U.S. Foreign Service and operating several educational centers, Rich Watkins moved to Williamsburg and quickly became enchanted by the area’s history. He soon developed a passion for sharing his expanding knowledge of the area with student visitors. As an educational tour guide with Jamestown Settlement, the American Revolutionary Museum at Yorktown, and Colonial Williamsburg, During the COVID shutdown, Rich explored the area for remnants of old colonial roads and discovered the rich history surrounding College Landing Park.

The Battle of Hampton Roads: USS Monitor vs. CSS Virginia

Mike Collier
Thursday, 9:30-11:30am
2 sessions
Nov. 30 at Discovery 3, Classroom
Dec. 7 at the Mariners’ Museum
40 seats available

The Battle of Hampton Roads, 8-9 March 1862, was instrumental in both the Civil War and future of naval warfare. It was the first battle in history between ironclads: the Union’s USS Monitor and the Confederacy’s CSS Virginia (not the Merrimack).

The course includes a first-day, two-hour classroom lecture on the path to war, construction of the two ships, the battle, and its aftermath.

The second class provides a guided tour of the USS Monitor Center at the Newport News Mariners’ Museum, where instructor Mike Collier is a docent.

Suggested reading: Our Little Monitor: The Greatest Invention of the Civil War by Anna Gibson Holloway and Jonathan W. White; The Monitor Boys – The Crew of the Union’s First Ironclad by John V. Quarstein

Mike is also teaching a course on U.S. Border Security & Immigration Control history. See his bio on page 7.
American Wisdom Tradition

The American Wisdom Tradition is a component of The American Wisdom Project, a pilot research and teaching curriculum of the Innermost House Foundation, a 501(c)(3) organization. The Project focuses on an American Wisdom Tradition while illuminating the larger world's wisdom traditions. From origins in early Virginia as a crossroads of Old and New, North and South, East and West, the Tradition develops from 18th century Williamsburg to 19th century Concord to 20th century California, while seeking its roots in the cultures of Native America, Europe, Asia, the Middle East, and Africa. It comprehends nature, art, thought, and spirituality as humanistic disciplines of the individual, drawing upon local and national resources for class instruction, team-teaching, and offsite learning. Like its ancient forebear at Oxford University, Literae Humaniores, the American Wisdom Project is a laboratory to cultivate a "more humane learning."

Diana and Michael Lorence lived a solitary life for seven years in the California woods, without electricity or hot water, in a 12x12' redwood cabin they built themselves, in a world lit only by fire. Since then, Diana and her Innermost House have become symbols of the inner life known around the world. Michael Lorence is president of The Innermost House Foundation, director of the American Wisdom Project and the Virginia House Project in Williamsburg, and past director of the Thoreau Society in Concord, Mass.

An Innermost Way of Seeing: From Life in the Woods to Williamsburg

Diana Lorence

Tuesday, 9:30-11:30am
1 session, Sep. 12
Tucker Hall, Room 127A
124 seats available

Have you ever longed for life in the woods? It is a longing that takes us back to our American beginnings. But the woods are more than trees and earth and sky. They are a way of seeing.

In this class of images and explorations, we draw on Ms. Lorence's seven years of solitude lived in the woods at her Innermost House in California to examine our lives here in Williamsburg. What beginnings lay just beneath the surface of our lives here, hidden in the plain sight of home? What meanings exist to be read just behind our everyday experiences? How might our days here in Williamsburg come to life before our eyes, illuminated by an Innermost way of seeing?

NEW! Triangulating Walden: The Primitive Hut in America

Michael Lorence

Thursday, 9:30-11:30am
1 session, Sep. 14
Tucker Hall, Room 127A
124 seats available

What we remember as Henry Thoreau’s experiment at Walden is as inseparable from the small house he built there as it is from Walden Pond itself. But what was the meaning of the house at Walden? What is it to us now?

In this course, we take the Walden hut as our North Star in a triangulation of points spanning the American Wisdom Tradition from before the beginning to after the end. We examine the Virginia House, the Walden hut, and the Innermost House in California to locate an archetypal form central to the New World culture of philosophical simplicity: the Primitive Hut in America.

The City of God: A Philosophical Garden Tour

Michael Lorence

Tuesday, 9:30-11:30am
1 session, Oct. 3
Colonial Williamsburg, Palace Green
20 seats available

! CW Good Neighbor Pass required

This walking tour of the town and gardens along Palace Street in Colonial Williamsburg is not a horticultural or botanical tour. Rather, it examines the city through the philosopher's eyes.

Do gardens have meaning? Is architecture more than shelter and decoration? Is there a difference in Williamsburg? What difference does it make? What role can a city play in the pursuit of wisdom?

Visit colonialwilliamsburg.org to learn about the required Good Neighbor Pass.

NEW! A Woodland Walk to America’s Beginnings

Michael Lorence

Thursday, 8:00am-1:00pm
1 session, Oct. 12
Meet at Discovery 3
10 seats available

$25 event fee
! Special requirements; read below

Henry Thoreau's essay, "Walking," describes the art of walking as "Holy-Landing," a crusade undertaken to reclaim the paradise of our beginnings. “We should go forth on the shortest walk,” he says, “in the spirit of undying adventure, never to return.”

In this field trip to the ancient woods of Surry County, we seek the sources of American home in the “Virginia House,” a transient building form now largely lost to history. Admixed of European, Indian, and African elements, this earliest American dwelling is now being reconstructed using authentic historic methods and materials in the Native forests of our first minglings.

Bring $25 exact cash or check payable to William & Mary on class day to cover transportation and a modest snack. Class requires a short ferry ride and being comfortable on a 2-3 mile hike through woods on uneven, hilly terrain. Restrooms are limited to Discovery 3 and the Jamestown-Scotland ferry (if open) before/after the trip. Wear proper footwear and attire for the weather and environs. Insect repellent highly recommended. Rain date October 20.
NEW! Film Noir: Murder, Mayhem & Adultery!

Thomas Thompson

Monday, 1:30-3:30pm
6 sessions
Sep. 11, 18, 25, Oct. 2, 9, 16
Campus Center, Little Theatre
110 seats available

How did a cycle of American cinema become one of the most influential movements in film history? During its classic period — ‘41 to ‘58 — noir films were derided by critics and released as B-films, the bottom half of double bills. How then did they become a major influence on subsequent generations of filmmakers, including Coppola, Truffaut, Scorsese, Tarantino, and many others? Why, in fact, did this movement, now called neo-noir, carry on unabated for four decades?

We will look at six films from the classic noir period. Like happy endings? This is not for you. Like to sit on the edge of your seat trying to figure out who did what to whom and why? See you in class.

Suggested Reading: Detours and Lost Highways: A Map of Neo-Noir by Foster Hirsch; and Dark City: The Lost World of Film Noir by Eddie Muller

Thomas Thompson has a B.A. and M.A. in religious knowledge. He worked for a medical testing laboratory serving clients in the New York area and became the employee ombudsman for the company’s managers nationwide. Once retired, he was invited by the American Association of Retired Persons to become a trainer, running workshops across the country.

NEW! George Reeves (TV’s Superman) – Hollywood Suicide?

Frank Wood

Tuesday, 9:30-11:30am
1 session
Sep. 12
School of Education, Room 1056
40 seats available

This course offers a critical examination of the circumstances surrounding the death of TV’s Superman, George Reeves, on June 15, 1959. The cause of death was ruled a suicide, but questions linger more than 60 years later. We’ll explore those unanswered questions and examine alternative theories of Superman’s untimely demise at age 45 from a gunshot wound.

Frank Wood is a retired accountant/financial executive and William & Mary alumnus who worked for 35 years in the mining/energy industry. He has an interest in film noir and unsolved and controversial cold cases and has previously offered Osher courses about the Black Dahlia and Marilyn Monroe.

The Kingston Trio and the Folk Era of the 1950s and 1960s

Greg Davy, James Morford

Tuesday, 1:30-3:30pm
3 sessions
Sep. 12, 19, 26
Campus Center, Little Theatre
110 seats available

American folk music rose to popularity in the late 1950s and became a happening in the 1960s. The course examines the foundation of folk music in America, much of which was inspired by social and economics conditions with some politics peppered in. Many once-famous groups and their music will be recalled. Special emphasis will be on The Kingston Trio, which at the pinnacle of their popularity, with hits like “Tom Dooley,” “M.T.A.,” “The Tijuana Jail,” and “Where Have All the Flowers Gone?,” was described as “the most envied, the most imitated, and the most successful singing group – folk or otherwise – in all of show business.”

Greg Davy was first bitten by the folk bug at about the age of 6, when he heard the records his parents were playing of the popular folk acts of the day. He enjoyed 40+ years as a journalist and government agency public relations specialist, but playing in his Kingston Trio tribute group, the Three Jolly Coachmen, is what he really loves.

Jim Morford is a former social studies teacher, part-time lecturer at Rutgers University, long-time Kingston Trio fan, and veteran Osher instructor.

From Page to Stage: Musicals Based on Literary Works & Contemporary Novels

Melissa Puttre

Wednesday, 1:30-3:30pm
6 sessions
Sep. 13, 20, 27, Oct. 4, 11, 18
Campus Center, Little Theatre
110 seats available

Musicals pull inspiration from varied literary works including classic novels, biographies, fairy tales, and even the Bible. This course will take a look at musicals based on contemporary novels covering the spectrum from sagas such as Ragtime and From Here to Eternity to more modern adaptations such as The Color Purple.
and Bridges of Madison County. The class uses both music and video clips from the shows when available and has been updated since last offered.

Melissa (Issa) Puttre is a graduate of the National Conservatory of Dramatic Arts and has worked as an actress and director along the East Coast, including performances at the Kennedy Center and Lincoln Center. Past shows include Romeo and Juliet, A Midsummer Night’s Dream, Kiss Me Kate, Children of Eden, Agnes of God, A View From a Bridge, and Steel Magnolias.

The Architecture and Times of English Medieval Cathedrals
Jan Smith
Monday, 1:30-3:30pm
3 sessions
Oct. 2, 9, 16
School of Education, Room 1056
40 seats available

English medieval cathedrals are among the most magnificent buildings in England, embodying earthly and spiritual power. Offering a glimpse of heaven on earth, the medieval master builders created stunning places of worship that remain standing after nearly 1,000 years.

This course will cover the beginnings of Christianity in England, basic cathedral architecture and terminology; characteristics of Anglo-Norman, English Early Gothic, Decorated Gothic, and Perpendicular Gothic cathedral architecture; and introduce the struggles between Rome, the English Clergy, and the English monarchy.

Jan Smith, M.B.A., taught higher education business courses. Upon retirement, she became a docent at the Museum of Fine Arts in Houston. She studied art history at the Glassell School of Art and the Women’s Institute of Houston, and medieval church architecture through the University of Oxford’s continuing education program.

NEW! Dining Dilemmas in Film
Tim Weidman
Monday, 1:30-3:30pm
3 sessions

Wednesday, 1:30-3:30pm
6 sessions
Oct. 25, Nov. 1, 8, 15, 29, Dec. 6
Campus Center, Little Theatre
110 seats available

Broadway musicals draw inspiration from a variety of sources. The latest trend is pulling from popular movies and transforming them into live musical theatre. In this class, we’ll take a look at both the movies used as inspiration and the musicals created as a result. We’ll cover the spectrum — from popular offerings such as 42nd Street and Legally Blonde to lesser known fare such as Rocky and Strictly Ballroom. The class will enjoy both music and video clips from the shows and movies when available.

“And What Do You Think You’re Listening To?” A Composer’s Toolbox
Tim Kloth
Tuesday, 9:30-11:30am
1 session
Sep. 26
School of Education, Room 1056
40 seats available

There are many books on music appreciation that help listeners better appreciate classical music. However, these books don’t always highlight the specific tools a composer uses to move the music forward.

Having worked as a composer for 40+ years, Tim has formulated a perspective that may enhance your understanding of classical music.

Composers use a fixed set of tools: rhythm, melody, harmony, timbre, and texture; but each of the tools is not always used equally. By listening to musical examples from Chopin to Ravel, he will highlight which parameter the composer used to propel the music. Come, take a listen!

Tim Kloth, while in high school, studied composition at the Cleveland Institute of Music. Majoring in composition, he earned a B.M. at Capital University, an M.M. at the Eastman School of Music, and a DMA from the University of North Texas. After having taught at VCU, UVA, and the University of Arizona, he is now retired from the Fairfax County Public Schools where he specialized in Orff Schulwerk.

NEW! Oscar Speaks: The Winningest Composers in Film History

Carl Johnson

Thursday, 1:00-2:30pm
4 sessions
Nov. 16, 30, Dec. 7, 14
Zoom
100 seats available

This course will examine the work of four of the most-honored film composers of all time. Their number of Academy Award nominations range from seven to 53 each and their wins from five to nine Oscars.

We will take a look at their careers and consider film scores not nominated as well as those for which they received Oscars.

Carl Johnson is a visiting instructor from Drake University’s OLLI program (Des Moines, IA). He completed undergraduate work at UCLA and taught instrumental music in California for 19 years before moving to Iowa, where he received his master’s degree in music from Drake University. He is the music director/conductor of the Des Moines Community Orchestra; serves as trombonist/assistant conductor for the Greater Des Moines Community Band; tutors for Mercy College of Health Sciences; teaches professional development classes for area education agencies throughout Iowa. He also directs the hand bell choir at his church; and has conducted the Urbandale Community Theatre summer musicals since the group was founded in 1997.

NEW! Alfred Hitchcock: Master of Suspense

Dan Sherman

Monday, 9:30-11:30am
1 session
Nov. 6
Williamsburg Regional Library, Theatre
250 seats available

In a career spanning more than 50 years, Alfred Hitchcock kept us in suspense through films that feature clever plotting, superb wit, and brilliant camera work both in British and American cinema.

This talk will cover the master’s career from the silent film era, masterpieces of British films in 1930s, and a Hollywood career that included an attempted assassination in Albert Hall, a chase across Mount Rushmore, visits to the Bates Motel, and a mysterious murder (or so, that is the word!) of crows. The class also includes highlights from Hitchcock’s biography, and excerpts from his films and interviews.

Dan Sherman is a retired economist (Ph.D., Cornell) who has taught many courses to adult learning groups on a broad range of topics, including film, theatre, music, and mathematics. He divides his time between Alexandria and Williamsburg.

The World of Oriental Rugs

Frank Shaia, Bryan Siewert

Wednesday, 5:30-7:30pm
3 sessions
Nov. 15, 29, Dec. 6
Shaia Oriental Rugs, 5560 Foundation Street, Downtown Williamsburg
40 seats available

This course will feature an overview of the oriental rug industry. It will include the history of rugs from some of the oldest known through those of modern times. It will explain what makes an oriental rug, where they are from, and the various types. While the focus will be on Persian rugs, the course will cover rugs from nearby countries. It will also cover how rugs are woven, rug weaving and looms, the method of preparing the wool, and the dyeing process.

Frank Shaia is a second-generation rug dealer. In 1973, Frank’s older brother, Joseph, opened an oriental rug store in Williamsburg. Frank joined him shortly after and later bought the shop. While the shop specializes in fine new rugs, Frank spends most of his time with antique rugs and exhibits at antique shows.

NEW! From The Muscarelle Vaults: Looking, Seeing, Resisting

Sandra Stephan, Harry Chancey

Friday, 9:30-11:30am
3 sessions
Nov. 17, Dec. 1, 8
Campus Center, Room 159
50 seats available

The Muscarelle Museum of Art is currently closed for major expansion and renovation, but a wealth of its resources is within reach. In this three-part class, two Muscarelle docents propose an art trifecta.

We’ll take a digital deep dive into the Museum’s permanent collection and open your eyes to some of its vast treasures. We begin with the gorgeous language of art and how it expands our visual comprehension of the world. Next, we examine ways individual artists see themselves and express their artistic visions on the continuum of creativity. And finally, we bear witness to artists taking aim at issues of social justice with powerful, and sometimes disturbing eloquence. Throughout, we will be looking at great art, seeing vibrant images come alive, and telling stories of provocative visual resistance today and in days gone by.

Sandra Stephan holds a Ph.D. in British Literature and is chair of the Muscarelle Museum of Art Docents Program.

Harry Chancey is a Muscarelle docent and a former program director for WNET/13 Public Television in New York.

Dec. 5
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

Are you or someone you know considering a move to a senior living community? Learn about the options — independent living, assisted living, memory care, skilled care, group homes — as well as the process of selecting a community, financial considerations, and how to ease the transition from your current living situation to a new lifestyle.

In this class, we’ll discuss everything from staying in your home to downsizing or moving to a retirement or continuing care community.

You’ll learn more about what’s involved in selecting the best option for you or your loved one, understanding costs and financial implications, resources available if you choose to sell your home, and how to optimize the experience to support your lifestyle choices.

Bring your questions and come prepared for a dynamic conversation.

Teresa Evans is a local seniors real estate specialist and certified luxury home marketing specialist.

Her experience with retirement-age clients, coupled with her previous role as marketing director for a senior living community, gives Teresa a unique ability to understand the living options and the home sale process for seniors.

Dawn Michelle has been a Certified Senior Advisor (CSA) for a decade, in addition to former roles as a care transition coach for the Peninsula Agency on Aging, a patient liaison in home health/hospice, a caregiver, and a nursing home volunteer in her younger years. Helping seniors has been her life’s work. She brings a wealth of knowledge about the spectrum of senior living and care community options and their advantages and differences.

The impeachment clause in the U.S. Constitution seems an archaic relic of a bygone era, yet it has played an outsized role in presidential politics in recent decades.

This one-time lecture will examine the history, origins, use, and consequences of the impeachment power that is both legal and political in nature.

Specifically, we will examine the three cases of presidential impeachment: Andrew Johnson, Bill Clinton, and Donald Trump.

We will parse the potential and actual types of actions that may lead to impeachment; discuss whether impeachable offenses must be criminal acts; consider if all criminality is impeachable; and whether there are other causes for impeachment, if the law can be separated from the politics, and if the concept has outlived its usefulness. The class includes a formal presentation followed by discussion.

Robert J. Spitzer (Ph.D., Cornell) is Distinguished Service Professor Emeritus of Political Science at SUNY Cortland, adjunct professor at the William and Mary School of Law, and affiliated scholar in William & Mary’s Government department. He is the author of sixteen books, including four on the presidency and six on gun policy, and over 700 articles, papers, and op-eds on many American politics subjects. He has taught about the American presidency for 40 years.

NEW! Constitutional Crises: The Chaotic Presidential Elections of 1800 and 1876

Michael Kerley

Wednesday, 1:30-3:30pm
3 sessions
Oct. 25, Nov. 1, 8
Campus Center, Room 159
50 seats available

The presidential elections of 1800 and 1876 stressed the Constitution like no other elections in our history. These elections highlighted several flaws in our presidential selection process, particularly in the Electoral College. In this course, we will examine the candidates and campaigns. We will also look at the peculiar methods that were used to resolve those elections and at the longer-term ramifications of each. We will see how these elections impact the process we currently employ to choose our nation’s chief executive officer — and put into historical context current controversies over America’s presidential selection process.

Suggested reading: Adams v. Jefferson: The Tumultuous Election of 1800 by John Ferling; Magnificent Catastrophe by Edward J. Larson; By One Vote: The Disputed Presidential Election of 1876 by Michael F. Holt; Centennial Crisis: The Disputed Election of 1876

Michael Kerley has a J.D. from George Washington University and a B.A. in government from Notre Dame. He practiced securities and insurance law for 35 years, and now teaches classes on the origin and structure of the Constitution for various lifelong learning programs.

Congress, the Constitution, and You

Art Grant

Thursday, 9:30-11:30am
3 sessions
Oct. 26, Nov. 2, 9
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

The purposes of this course are to provide an understanding of Congress’ role in policymaking by focusing on the constitutional basis for that role and determine how Congress is fulfilling its responsibilities as the “people’s representatives.” We will describe and evaluate the results of the Constitutional Convention of 1787, describe the Founding Fathers’ intentions regarding Congress and conclude with a description and analysis of current Congressional procedures. This is not a course on the centuries of legal interpretations of the Constitution; it is a course on Congress and its constitutional responsibilities to make policy.

Suggested reading: The Creation of the American Republic, 1776-1787 by Gordon S. Wood; The Quartet by Joseph J. Ellis.

Art Grant is a former assistant professor of history at West Point and adjunct professor of history at George Washington University. During his professional career, he served 34 years in the federal government – 25 years in the executive branch and nine years on the professional staff of the U.S. Senate.

The Virginia Legislative Process

Megan Rhyne

Thursday, 1:30-3:30pm
3 sessions
Nov. 16, 30, Dec. 7
School of Education, Room 1056
40 seats available

With shrinking state and local news outlets, it is harder than ever to find out what your state lawmakers are up to in Richmond. This nonpartisan course teaches students about the Virginia legislative process – the written and unwritten rules – and how to search for and track bills that are of interest to you. Participants will also learn how to connect financial contributions to candidates and elected officials, and how to use open government laws to keep everyone accountable.

Megan Rhyne, director of the Virginia Coalition of Open Government since 2008, has a J.D. from the University of Colorado School of Law and a B.A. in radio, television and motion pictures from the University of North Carolina. She was an adjunct professor of media law at Hampton University.
NEW! After the Gavel Falls: An Introduction to the Department of Defense Clemency and Parole Process

Thomas Shubert
Tuesday, 9:30-11:30am
1 session
Dec. 5
School of Education, Room 1056
40 seats available

A key but little-known component of the Uniform Code of Military Justice system is the Department of Defense’s (DoD) clemency and parole programs. Administered by the Services (Air Force, Space Force, Army, and Navy-Marine Corps), the Clemency and Parole Boards assist in executing clemency, parole, transfer to the Federal Bureau of Prisons, return-to-duty authorities, and mandatory supervised releases. The Boards’ clemency authority is separate from a commander’s post-trial power to modify findings and/or sentence of a court martial.

The course provides an overview of the DoD’s clemency and program process. Learners will also experience the decision-making process itself by evaluating factors in several case studies in an interactive class discussion.

During 47 years of federal service, both military and civilian, Thomas Shubert served in a variety of positions to experience handling diverse issues and relationships: as an Air Force pilot; a political-military affairs officer; air attaché; legislative liaison for Secretaries of Defense and the Air Force; OSD policy as county director for European and Southeast Asian countries; and developmental and education programs. He ended his career as director of the security protection directorate, Air Force Review Boards Agency, chair of the Air Force Clemency and Parole Board, as well as president of the Personnel Security Appeal Board.

NEW! Your Subconscious Mind: Taking the Reins of Your Dedicated Genie

Athena Staik
Monday, 1:30-3:30pm
3 sessions
Sep. 11, 18, 25
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

Advances in neuroscience have produced amazing revelations about optimal function of the brain and body. This course will present key findings focused on understanding how the subconscious mind works to promote healing and happiness.

Emphasis will be given on knowing the jobs of subconscious; how they differ from the conscious mind; how to calm the vagus nerve to prevent emotions... of fear or anger from jamming system communications; and how to operate the executive control panel of your body-mind and take the helm as captain of your emotional health and well-being. In this way, and many more, the subconscious mind is solely devoted to you, your health, and fulfillment in every respect. A devoted guide in some situations, an alert scout in others, and the instructor’s favorite, a genie (if you know how to rub it just right!)

Athena Staik holds a Ph.D. in marriage and family therapy. Her focused interest on breaking free of reactivity, relational happiness, and more recently, athletic performance, led her to integrate cutting edge-tools of neuroscience and mindfulness in her work to accelerate change. Her background includes 15 years as an adjunct professor in psychology and sociology, and a full-time, private practice for more than 10 years.

NEW! The Amazing Human Body II

Wendy LeBolt

Tuesday, 9:30-11:30am
3 sessions
Sep. 12, 19, 26
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

Bodies: We all have one. But have you ever really thought about how yours works? How do those little standalone units we call cells do their jobs? How do the collections of cells we call tissues accomplish tasks? How do our organs work together to keep our body functioning? In this interactive class, we’ll use the body we came with to explore amazing human “design features” which allow us to function daily — even if we sometimes don’t function quite as well as we used to.

This course is a sequel to last Fall’s Amazing Human Body I (which is not a prerequisite for enjoying this course).

Wendy LeBolt has a B.S. in biology from William & Mary with graduate degrees in exercise physiology. She taught anatomy and physiology at George Washington University and worked in community coaching and teaching health promotion and wellness. Her book, Made to Move: Knowing and Loving God Through Your Body, was published in 2019.

Part 1: Engaging in Life’s Situations: Moving From woe to WOW!

Fran Bado

Wednesday, 9:30-11:30am
3 sessions
Sep. 13, 20, 27
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

It really IS all about you! But perhaps you need to reset your perspective. How do you approach the day and is it affecting your well-being? As you go through your daily routines, are you taking advantage of the goodness that surrounds you? Are you struggling to even see it? Then join us for some "planned fun" discussing positive and negative energy areas that motivate us, and how to appreciate the magic of our surroundings. The class is highly interactive, and you may just start to see life as a more joyous endeavor. So, take a break from your worries, kick back, and see where this road takes you! Then join us again for Part 2. (Optional, see p. 21).

Fran Bado is an executive project manager who is certified by the IBM Project Management Institute. He retired from IBM after 54 years and continues to teach across the project management continuum. His passion for teaching coupled with his experience ensures a valuable learning experience.
NEW! CCRCs and Life Plan Communities

Lisa Bates
Thursday, 9:30-11:30am
1 session
Sep. 14
Williamsburg Landing, Assisted Living Building, Charter Room
50 seats available

Ever wonder what a continuing care retirement community (CCRC) or life plan community is? What features and services are available? How and when are they accessible to residents? This course will explain what CCRCs are, how they work, the levels of health care and contract types available, and the costs and benefits.

Lisa Bates is the chief marketing officer at Williamsburg Landing, a life plan community. Every day, Lisa and her team meet with seniors who are exploring the next chapter of their lives—providing information and insight about the various options available today in senior living, particularly comprehensive programs like CCRCs.

Walking for Fitness

Ray Funkhouser
Monday, 1:30-3:30pm
1 session
Sep. 25
Campus Center, Colonial Echo
24 seats available

What gives the same aerobic workout for the lungs and heart as jogging or aerobic dance, does not stress leg joints and feet, and provides more upper body exercise than running? The answer is race walking, also known as fitness walking or health walking. Come, learn about efficient walking and specific techniques, safety, how to get started, choosing shoes, and how to dress for varied weather. Wear comfortable clothes and shoes.

Ray Funkhouser is a two-time National Race Walk Champion, set two American Records, and was a finalist in three Olympic Track & Field Trials. He has represented the United States in International competitions on four continents and coached 4 USA Track & Field International Teams. He is currently President of USA Track & Field Virginia Association.

Yoga and Meditation

Indira Ghosh
Monday, 9:30-11:30am
4 sessions
October 2, 9, 16, 23
Williamsburg Landing, Alvin P Auditorium
30 seats available

Yoga is a segment of an ancient tradition that is valid, relevant, and supportive in a new millennium with ever-growing health and well-being concerns. Athletes use it to tone muscles and increase flexibility. Executives rely on it to de-stress. Doctors prescribe it for everything from sore backs and respiratory problems to chronic fatigue. This course will focus on gentle yoga postures and the importance of progressive breathing as well as an introduction to the healing benefits of sound meditation. Bring a mat or blanket to use on the floor and wear comfortable clothing.

Indira Ghosh was a lecturer in physical education and yoga at Loreto College, Calcutta, India. She has conducted and participated in yoga and meditation seminars across the globe. She taught yoga in the Midwest through area universities, hospitals, and community centers. She is also an orthopedic nurse and teaches yoga and meditation in Williamsburg.

Functional Exercises to Improve Fitness, Balance, and Agility

Karen Thomas
Monday, 1:30-3:30pm
3 sessions
Oct. 2, 9, 16
Campus Center, Unity Hall
40 seats available

Optional after-class chat

Functional exercises are designed to help you meet the physical demands of life from activities of daily living to athletic competitions. It is not training for a specific event but to develop a grounding of fitness, balance, and agility for all fitness levels. This course will have a combination of lecture and activity opportunities to practice the exercises which need little to minimal equipment. Learning proper exercise techniques not only helps prevent injuries but increases the effectiveness of the exercises. You will also learn how to increase the intensity of the exercises as your fitness improves.

Karen Thomas has an M.A. in kinesiology and is an American College of Sports Medicine Certified Exercise Physiologist with certifications in “Exercise is Medicine,” nutrition, and public health. She retired in 2018 from Montgomery College, Maryland, after teaching health and exercise science for 29 years.

Part 2: Engaging in Life’s Situations: Moving from woe to WOW!

Fran Bado
Wednesday, 9:30-11:30am
3 sessions
Oct. 4, 11, 18
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

In Part 1 (see p. 20), we traveled down our yellow brick road learning about the six key areas of life that give rise to the omnipresent “WOW” that surrounds us. Part 2 expands on the six key areas of energy, the inner self, words and phrases, colors of life and magical moments in great depth. To accomplish that, we encounter fictional characters and their situations encompassing each of the six areas. You will be involved in class exercises putting you in each situation for maximum effect. The class will be highly interactive in having fun and putting “WOW!” back in our lives.

This is the second of Fran’s two-part “healthier thinking” workshop. Learn more, and read his bio on page 20.
NEW! A New You – Plus!
Jeanne Forrest
Wednesday, 1:30-3:30pm
3 sessions
Oct. 4, 11, 18
Discovery 3, Classroom
25 seats available

Over the past few years, you may have reflected on the quality and meaning of your life. We are all called to be more. This interactive program will help you learn the keys to creating the life you are meant to live. This class is an extension of the program Jeanne led last Spring but is open to all who are interested in discovering and living their purpose-filled life.

Jeanne Forrest is a best-selling author, speaker, pastoral care specialist, life-purpose coach, and seminar leader whose passion is leading others to find a closer alignment with God’s purpose for their lives. She is a graduate of Duke University Divinity School, and continues to study with Alan Wolfelt, Ph.D., Deepak Chopra, Jean Houston, and Jack Canfield.

Brain-Related Change As We Age
Pattie Gaudio
Thursday, 9:30-11:30am
1 session, Oct. 5
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

Are you worried that your memory is not what it used to be? Learn how the brain works and the various changes that affect cognition as we age. We will discuss natural age-related cognitive changes — as opposed to changes that happen with dementia — how neuroplasticity works, and ways you can “exercise” and maintain your brain health.

Pattie Gaudio is dementia services educator at Williamsburg Landing. She assists and supports residents, staff, and caregivers to maximize brain health from natural age-related changes through the dementia spectrum. Pattie brings a medical and teaching background and personal experience as a caregiver for her husband with Alzheimer’s.

NEW! Heart Rate Training: It’s Beating…Now What?
Sasha Digges
Thursday, 9:30-11:30am
1 session, Oct. 5
Campus Center, Room 159
50 seats available

Heart rate is foundational to all activity, movement, and life – and heart rate training is a simple and inexpensive way to improve overall fitness. Ideal for serious athletes, weekend warriors, fitness walkers, and aerobics aficionados alike, heart rate training is easy to do solo, as a duo or with a group. It may also be beneficial as part of a physical therapy or rehabilitation program.

Sasha Digges, Jr., is president and founder of PEAK Physical Therapy & Sports Rehabilitation and the CORE FITNESS Performance Training Center in Williamsburg. A licensed physical therapist, certified athletic trainer, and certified strength and conditioning specialist, he earned an M.S. in physical therapy from Wheeling Jesuit University and trained in sports medicine at Marquette University.

Zumba Gold
Bess Williams

In person; location to be announced
25 seats available

Zumba Gold is the mature form of the original dance workout. Our consistent, easy-to-follow dance steps are done at a modified pace and intensity that burn calories, strengthens muscles, improves balance and coordination, and makes your whole-body smile. It’s a dance party where everyone in the room is your partner!

Bess Williams has a B.A. in education from Michigan State University, an M.L.S. in library science from Indiana University, AFAA Group Fitness Certification, and Zumba Certification. Before retiring, she was an IB Librarian at Fairport High School in Rochester, New York. She is now a paraeducator in the York County schools.

NEW! 2024 Medicare ABCDs
Daphne Bernstein
Tuesday, 4:30-6:30pm
1 session, Oct. 10
Zoom
275 seats available

Open enrollment for 2024 Medicare plans begins on October 15, so mark your calendar for this timely seminar.

Then join Daphne for answers about all things Medicare. She’ll cover eligibility, special enrollment periods, dates, and deadlines; the various pieces and parts (A, B, D); Medicare Advantage (part C); common misconceptions; errors to avoid; and important new benefits you won’t want to miss. We’ll also talk about those omnipresent TV ads and cut through the hype and get to the facts.

Best of all, you’ll be talking with a gerontologist and experienced Medicare insurance professional who will provide you with objective, unbiased advice since her agency does not market in Virginia.

Daphne Bernstein holds an advanced degree in gerontology and brings more than 30 years of executive experience in the senior healthcare and care continuum sectors. She is currently a consultant to those industries and is also a licensed insurance agent for Medicare plans in the states of Colorado and Texas.

HEALTH & WELLNESS — continues on p. 31
Fall 2023 Registration
Early registration: July 17-26
Open enrollment: Aug. 21-Oct. 31

To Register Online
Online registration is preferred. It’s fast, easy, and you will get email confirmation of your classes when credit card payment is transmitted.

Go to wm.edu/osher. Click on the green “Register/Sign In” button. Click on “Register Now,” and “New Registration.” (New members must first sign up for an account.) Enter code Osher2023Fall. Payment is due at time of registration by VISA, MasterCard, Discover, or Amex.

To Mail or Drop Off Forms
You may also mail or drop off your forms and check payable to William & Mary at 5330 Discovery Park Blvd. (in New Town). Use the outdoor mailbox for Suite 100 if the office is closed.

Registering Early? Rank Your Choices
To participate in the early registration lottery, rank all of your class choices by priority preference. When ranking your choices, do not differentiate between multi-session and single-session classes.

Simply start with your most-desired course, and continue numbering sequentially until each course is ranked.

Use the Class Selection Worksheet
The “Color Chart” on the next few pages provides high-level detail for all 131 courses. Use it as a guide to select (and rank) your choices – and keep it handy to simplify registering.

Note the “NOTES”
The icons in the Worksheet’s Notes column indicate a special class feature or requirement. Refer to the full course description for details:

($) Optional 30-minute, post-class discussion with instructor and classmates

($$) Additional fee to cover class materials (e.g., art supplies) and/or event costs. These fees are payable at the first class by exact cash or check payable to William & Mary

(!!) Special requirements, materials to bring with you, or other important info about the class

Watch Your Watch
Be aware of class times and durations other than our usual two hours or standard 9:30am / 1:30pm / 4:30pm starts. This added flexibility allows Osher at W&M to align with program schedules of collaborating OLLIs and instructors in other time zones.

A WORD ABOUT FREE & AMICABLE DISCUSSION IN THE CLASSROOM

A vibrant member community can bring equally vibrant viewpoints to the classroom. Explicating, defending, or criticizing a given claim does not translate to personal endorsement or rejection of that claim. Advocating a given position does not necessarily translate to personal agreement with it. Likewise, offering criticisms of an argument in the spirit of intellectual inquiry does not necessarily translate to disagreement with it. The academic value lies in the examination and understanding of various viewpoints that thoughtful people offer.

In matters where reasonable people may disagree, it is unlikely that we’ll settle on “right answers”; controversial issues are controversial for a reason. Examining them responsibly requires a mature, respectful approach. Disagreement over controversial matters of political, ethical, legal, or social policy is healthy; disagreeableness is not.

This discussion explores the inspiration, technical approach, collaboration, and publication of an unusual book by Melinda and Michael Richardson. What started as Michael's photography hobby and Melinda's response to the images he shared gave rise to a unique artistic endeavor. Melinda's mastery of the written word gives voice and yield wisdom from the resident Great Blue Heron of the Chisel Run Pond in Williamsburg's Ford's Colony.

The couple paired Michael's rich images with Melinda's serendipitous prose to create a volume of wisdom born of nature – much like early American naturist philosophers. This labor of love was not without hurdles. The necessities of publication have little to do with artistry of word and image but are requisite to bring a creative vision to fruition.

NEW! Scarlet Letter Lives: A Genealogical and Literary Civil War Virginia Saga

Maureen Wlodarczyk

Wednesday, 1:30-3:30pm
1 session
Oct. 4
Campus Center, Room 159
50 seats available

This course will explore the lives of the owners of three inscribed 1850s copies of The Scarlet Letter by Nathaniel Hawthorne.

Genealogical research has revealed that each family had ties/experiences in Civil War-era Virginia, one a New England bride of an Alexandria merchant; the second, a native Virginian who finds himself in New Orleans during the Union blockade of that city; and the third, a young Mississippi boy who follows his older brothers into the Confederate Army and finds himself with them and Jeb Stuart on the battlefields of Virginia.

Their lives and personal experiences before, during, and after the Civil War will be explored along with the process of how their copies of The Scarlet Letter were traced back to them and inspired a work of historical fiction: Scarlet Letter Lives by Maureen Wlodarczyk.

Maureen Wlodarczyk (past-forward.com) is a genealogist, the author of seven books, a columnist writing about genealogy topics, and a frequent speaker about genealogy research. She has been selected for multiple Excellence-in-Writing awards by the International Society of Family History Writers & Editors.
NEW! The Old Town (Alexandria, VA) Mystery Series

John Wasowicz

Tuesday, 1:30-3:30pm
1 session, Nov. 14
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

Every journey in life begins with one small first step. As it is with life, so it is with writing. Author John Wasowicz will discuss his writing process and how the publication of an anticipated “one and done” book evolved into a mystery series that rendered meaning to his personal life, enlivened his readers' imaginations, and garnered Old Town Mystery fans around the world.

The series follows the Mo Katz, the fictional U.S. Attorney for the Eastern District of Virginia. The stories all take place in Alexandria and profile well-known landmarks in the area.

John Adam Wasowicz is an attorney and author of The Old Town (Alexandria) six-volume series of mysteries that includes Daingerfield Island, Jones Point, Slaters Lane, Roaches Run, Gadsby's Corner, and Hazel Falls. John currently practices law in the public sector. He wrote his first book at age 65 and has been going full throttle since. His newest novel, Almost Heaven, is in the works.

NEW! Cormac McCarthy: America’s Great Reclusive Author

Lawrence Perlow

Friday, 9:30-11:30am
2 sessions
Nov. 17, Dec. 1
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

The reclusive (at least until he was interviewed by Oprah in 2007) Cormac McCarthy is considered by many critics as America's greatest living author. He has published novels in multiple genres and styles from 1965-2022. In session 1, we will analyze his first novel, The Orchard Keeper. The story is set in Eastern Tennessee during the peri-Prohibition era, and its intertwined stories reflect the conflict between government and traditional rural life. This Southern Gothic work drew critical praise as an impressive first work despite some perceived flaws that we will try to identify. After several more novels set in Appalachia, McCarthy switched genres and styles.

In session 2, we will discuss the vastly different and prize-winning All the Pretty Horses, the first work in a trilogy that elevated Western pulp genre fiction to high literary art. We will also contrast these two books

Lawrence Perlow is an oncologist who earned his M.D. from Georgetown University. After a career as an executive for several multinational pharmaceutical corporations, he earned a D.Litt. from Drew University.

NPR Behind the Scenes: The Early Years

John Streiff

Wednesday, 1:30-3:30pm
3 sessions
Oct. 25, Nov. 1, 8
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

National Public Radio is well known today, but you might remember a time when it was not as recognizable. John Streiff was an early NPR employee, joining the company in 1972, less than a year after its founding. Discover the triumphs, faux pas and near misses in those first years. Come hear the inside story from someone who was there and helped “write the book” on public radio broadcasting in the United States. John will share interactions, interviews, recollections, and written materials from his personal experience as well as his colleagues, including audio and image resources from private and public sources.

Suggested reading: This is NPR – The First Forty Years by Adams et al.

John Streiff received a degree in communications from San Diego State University and has studied science and consciousness for over 50 years. His Osher courses reflect his varied eclectic interests. He has taught and lectured on a variety of topics during his professional consulting career.
RELIGION & PHILOSOPHY

NEW! Thinking About Thinking
Bruce Cogossi
Monday, 9:30-11:30am
3 sessions
Sep. 11, 18, 25
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

All humans think. It is our nature to do so. Humans naturally think without having to exert much energy or necessarily engage in any real intellectual work. But much of our thinking, when left to itself, is biased, distorted, partial, uninformed, or downright prejudiced. In our education system, we are taught how to think and learn academically. But what have you learned about how “you” think? Where does your thinking come from?

This course is not about intellectual analysis of a topic. Instead, it is about analyzing your own thinking, that is, making your unconscious assumptions conscious – examining the assumptions behind statements you make, in other words, what do your statements imply?

Bruce Cogossi graduated from the U.S. Military Academy. He holds an M.P.A. from Troy State University, an M.S. in education from Old Dominion, and an M.S. in national resource strategy from National Defense University. He served in the U.S. Army for 27 years, followed by 11 years as a Federal civilian in leadership roles in contracting.

NEW! Destroyer of the Gods: Christianity’s Unlikely Triumph in Ancient Rome
Jack Dalby
Monday, 9:30-11:30am
4 sessions
Oct. 23, 30, Nov. 6, 13
Zoom
275 seats available

Christianity’s astounding success in the ancient Roman world was not preordained. Far from it. In this academically based presentation, we will examine the many reasons, large and small, that Christianity grew from a tiny group of apocalyptic Jews in the year 30CE, to being proclaimed the official religion of the Roman Empire in 381CE.

Topics for discussion will include our sources, the historical Jesus, the ministry of St. Paul, why Christianity separated from Judaism, the Roman view of Christianity, early Christian worship, Roman persecution of Christians, the importance of martyrdom, Christian missionary work, the variety of Christian sects, Constantine’s conversion, the Council of Nicaea, the Council of Constantinople and more.

Jack Dalby is a newly retired northern Virginia business owner. For the past 11 years, he has lectured on various topics in the area of “Christian Origins” at George Mason University’s Osher Institute program. The courses are the result of 15 years of private study within this always fascinating and continually relevant topic.

NEW! Vision of Islam
Islam Bedir
Wednesday, 4:30-6:30pm
3 sessions
Oct. 25, Nov. 1, 8
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

Step into the captivating world of Islam with the course. This enlightening journey covers the three foundational aspects of the faith as outlined in the revered Hadith of Gabriel: faith, practice, and spirituality. Drawing upon the wisdom of the Qur’an, the teachings of the Prophet, and the profound insights of esteemed Islamic scholars, the course provides an accessible and immersive introduction to the core principles of each dimension. Engage in lively discussions and ask insightful questions as you explore the beauty and depth of Islam and gain a greater understanding of this remarkable faith tradition.

Suggested Reading: The Clear Quran by Dr. Mustafa Khattab; The Qur’an with Annotated Interpretation in Modern English

Islam Bedir holds a Ph.D. in theoretical physics and has studied Islamic sciences under a number of scholars.

The Life Most Worth Living: Virtue Theory in Ancient & Modern Perspective
Bill Rhodes
Monday, Wednesday, 1:30-3:30pm
6 sessions
Nov. 13, 15, 27, 29, Dec. 4, 6
School of Education, Room 1056
40 seats available

Optional after-class chat

We’ll focus on the practical philosophical question: “What is the life most worth living?” and a Socratic claim underlying it: “The unexamined life is not worth living.” Covering the fundamentals of virtue ethics and concentrating on the thought of Socrates, Plato, and Aristotle, we will discuss the sort of person who lives well and what constitutes the well-lived (and examined) life. Findings from formal psychological research are included, along with the question of how best to equip ourselves and others to live well.

Bill Rhodes earned his doctorate from the University of Colorado, Boulder. A published author and researcher, he served as a professor and academic department head at the U.S. Air Force Academy and currently teaches online courses for Air University.

EXTENDED! Cicero’s “De Senectute” (On Old Age)

Bill Rhodes

Tuesday, 9:30-12:30pm (3 hours)
1 session
Nov. 14
School of Education, Room 1056
40 seats available

Optional after-class chat

The goal of this class is to become familiar with De Senectute and elements of Stoic philosophy.

The lecture will open with a popular-level introduction to the discipline of practical philosophy and Stoicism in particular. With that basis in place, we will move to each of Cicero’s “considerations” regarding the beneficial aspects of aging.

Though he grants that we change in lots of ways as we age, he suggests, contrary to popular opinion, that most of these changes promote our well-being. Content will be derived from original sources, to include Epictetus’ “Enchiridion” and, of course, Cicero’s “De Senectute.”

Though formatted as a lecture, the course will offer lots of opportunity for interaction. The course is designed especially for philosophy neophytes; no prior experience with philosophy is needed to benefit from this course.

Suggested reading: De Senectute by Cicero

Bill Rhodes is also teaching a course on virtue ethics. See his bio above.

Practice the Pause – Reimagining Spirituality

Lawrence Durrett

Thursday, 1:30-3:30pm
3 sessions
Nov. 16, 30, Dec. 7
Williamsburg Landing, Alvin P Auditorium
20 seats available

We are here to grow in our vision of oneness, balancing justice and mercy, and empowering a greater giving and receiving of perennial wisdom and love. Distraction, misinformation, and inadequate pain control are crying out for us to address the “whole” person. Writing, movement, music, poetry, and life-giving dialogue are the tools we’ll use to reimagine spirituality and regain balance.

Lawrence Durrett has a B.A. in government, an M.Div degree, and a master’s degree in library science. He has served as a United Methodist minister, a librarian, and a yoga teacher, and has also provided music in churches and nursing homes. He completed post-graduate work at the National Presbyterian Church, Virginia Theological Seminary, and the Catholic University of America.

NEW! Between the Everyday and the Universal: Art in Spirituality

Adrian Williams

Monday, 1:30-3:30pm
1 session
Nov. 27
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

Through both creation and interpretation, art forms a bridge between our personal everyday experiences and the universal spirit of creation.

In this class, we will take a look at the work of various artists and consider not only why they may have created the art, but how our interpretations of art inform our understanding of God, creation, and one another.

Join us as we examine what Thomas Merton once said, “I do not insist on this division between spirituality and art, for I think even things that are not patently spiritual, if they come from the heart of a spiritual person, are spiritual.”

Adrian Williams has a B.A. in musical theater from Mary Washington College and an M.Div. from the Baptist Theological Seminary at Richmond. He is director of educational ministries at Williamsburg Presbyterian Church and has led programs and created curriculum for the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) at local, state, and national levels.

NEW! Your Home Network
In Layman’s Terms

Keith Parkansky
Wednesday, 1:30-3:30pm
3 sessions
Sep. 13, 20, 27
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

Learn how to get the most out of the networking functionality your home Internet connection provides. Presented in three parts, we’ll cover:

1) how your home network works with the Internet as we demystify those “network settings” (IP address, subnet mask, default gateway, DNS, DHCP, etc.) — perhaps even create your own Internet presence

2) how to leverage the connectivity your home network provides to add convenience and functionality (centralized printing and paperless faxing, file sharing, performing backups, IP telephony, etc.) — perhaps even create your own Internet presence

3) what software and devices are available to help you protect your home network and computers as well as how to troubleshoot common network connectivity issues. Plastic pocket pencil protectors are optional.

After an initial career in the electronics field, Keith Parkansky transitioned into computer networking. He spent 25 years in public education and local government as a network administrator managing Novell and Windows-based computer networks as well as traditional PBX and IP-based telephony systems. In retirement, he likes to tinker with Linux servers and open source software and breadboarding and programming popular microcontrollers.

America’s Weapons Systems – The Weapons We Go to War with Now

John Hickok
Wednesday, 9:30-11:30am
6 sessions
Sep. 13, 20, 27, Oct. 4, 11, 18
Zoom
275 seats available

Defense Strategy has focused on the threats of Russia, China, North Korea, and Iran to the United States. A volatile Middle East and Central Asia has kept America at war for 20 years – with still some activity in Iraq and Syria; as well as the continued worldwide threat of terrorism. Now we have Russia attacking Ukraine and putting NATO at risk of getting into a major war in Europe.

This course will provide a comprehensive overview of the Department of Defense and its major weapon systems including our strategic nuclear forces, and those in space, in the air, on the sea, undersea, and on land. A follow-on three session course, Future U.S. Weapon Systems, is highly recommended.

John Hickok holds an M.S. in aero engineering and M.B.A. from Naval Postgraduate School, and a B.S. in engineering and nuclear physics from the U.S. Naval Academy. He retired after a 48-year career in the Navy and Office of the Secretary of Defense (OSD). His service includes flight operations as an A-6 Intruder naval flight officer and British RAF Buccaneer weapon systems officer.

His acquisition assignments included top-secret stealth programs and as the Navy’s PM for avionics systems. He also served as a senior professor at Defense Acquisition University and chief knowledge officer during his tenure with the OSD. He also served as a senior professor at Defense Acquisition University and chief knowledge officer during his tenure with the OSD.

NEW! The Geography of Island Amphibious Landings

Paul Severance
Friday, 9:30-11:30am
1 session
Sep. 15
School of Education, Room 1056
40 seats available

In the military domain, amphibious military operations are considered to be one of the most difficult of military operations to execute with success.

We will address the principal physical geographic aspects of two major U.S. amphibious operations at Tarawa in November 1943 and Iwo Jima between February and March 1945.

The presentation will address a wide array of geographic factors, principles, and influences that played a role in the planning, execution, and outcomes. We will also consider climate and weather, hydrography, tides, topography, beach characteristics, micro-terrain and enemy defensive endeavors that characterized both operations. The lecture will also examine strategic and operational imperatives driving strategic military operations in the Pacific Theater.

The underlying foundation of this presentation is that geography is – and will remain – a “First Principle” in the planning, resourcing, and execution of major military operations.

Paul is teaching another geography-based class this semester: Geography and Warfighting in Vietnam (see p. 46).

Paul Severance taught strategic geography at the National Defense University for 23 years. He focused on analysis of the broadest dimensions of physical and human geography on the inception, planning, and execution of military operations.

The World of Stealth
John Hickok
Monday, 1:30-3:30pm
1 session
Oct. 2
Zoom
275 seats available

Stealth is the ultimate game of hide-and-seek for our military. Stealth is “the” U.S.’ major capability, and it elevates and distinguishes the American defense force from all other countries’ militaries.

This course will help you understand the major technologies and components that create “stealth,” as well as the evolution of stealth platforms since World War II, and the latest stealth platform – the F-35 Joint Strike Fighter.

The F-35 is the largest and most expensive program in the U.S. Department of Defense, and is being purchased by the United Kingdom, Italy, the Netherlands, Australia, Canada, Norway, Denmark, Japan, Singapore, Israel, Poland, Finland, South Korea and Belgium. This course supplements the courses “America’s Weapon Systems” and “Future Weapon Systems,” also being offered this Fall (see p. 40).

John Hickok is teaching several military and STEM-related courses this Fall. See his bio on p. 37.

NEW! The Disappearing Islands of the Chesapeake Bay
Jim Griffin
Tuesday, 9:30-11:30am
3 sessions
Oct. 3, 10, 17
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

Jim’s course from last Fall, The Virginia Peninsula from a Watershed Perspective, examined the problem of sea level rise and subsidence in the Chesapeake Bay. While last Fall’s course is not a prerequisite for this class, the new course looks at these twin issues in greater detail and explores the geologic history of the Bay and the land subsidence and sea level rise that is changing the future of islands there.

We will also briefly discuss how these factors affect the bay’s shoreline and that of the major cities that surround the bay. The focus is on Tangier Island; however other islands and coastal areas will also be discussed.

Jim says the idea for this course comes from the excellent book by Earl Swift, Chesapeake Requiem: A Year with the Watermen of Vanishing Tangier Island, which he read on the suggestion of an Osher member from the prior class.

Jim Griffin holds a Ph.D. in environmental science from the Florida Institute of Technology; an M.S. in systems technology from the Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, CA; and was an environmental scientist for local and state agencies in Florida. He also taught GIS applications at the University of South Florida, as well as Florida watersheds and water resources courses at USF’s Osher program.

NEW! The Golden Ratio: Understanding Nature’s Favorite Number
Dan Sherman
Monday, 9:30-11:30am
1 session
Oct. 9
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

! Pen, paper, calculator suggested; read below

Like its cousin pi, the number phi has a long and fascinating history. Its value defines the Golden Ratio (also called the “Divine Proportion”) that some say defines beauty in the visual arts and nature.

The number is closely related to the famous Fibonacci numbers, which relate to nature (e.g., the number of petals on a flower) and also many fascinating relationships among numbers.

The class is meant to be fun and use basic mathematics to show how a seemingly simple set of numbers illuminates art, nature, and even music.

Participants are welcome to bring paper and pen to class, along with a calculator (your mobile phone is fine).

Dan Sherman is a retired economist (Ph.D., Cornell) who has taught many courses to adult learning groups on a broad range of topics, including film, theatre, music, and mathematics. He divides his time between Alexandria and Williamsburg.

50 seats available

Whether you are a novice or an occasional user of PowerPoint (PPT), in this course you will learn the basic PPT toolsets to create, edit, and share professional-looking presentations.

A sampling of topics we’ll cover includes: templates and themes; creating a new presentation from scratch; changing the slide layout; adding and editing text, images, charts, video, and animation; formatting slides; sharing presentations; running a slideshow; creating handouts; and more. Rick will be using Microsoft 365 PowerPoint; however, if you have PowerPoint 2016 or PowerPoint 2019, the versions are very similar.

Rick Chase is a retired, seasoned executive whose last assignment was vice president, customer service and support for Dell. Early in his career with General Electric, he ran the field engineering development center.

NEW! The Impact of the Automobile
Barry Dressel
Monday, 1:30-2:45pm
6 sessions
Oct. 23, 30, Nov. 6, 13, 27, Dec. 4
Campus Center, Little Theatre
110 seats available

As the era of the automotive internal combustion engine draws nearer to an end, our relationship with mobility via personally owned vehicles may change, too.

Are we there yet? Classic American road trip

The automobile originally offered a solution to an unsustainable dependence on animal-based transport – and in the process, provided unprecedented, affordable mobility and flexibility. It transformed work, recreation, societal mores, and life expectations. The automobile progressed cities, influenced architecture, enabled suburbia, and created its own culture. It also polluted the environment, killed tens of thousands, wasted resources, and changed the way society functioned.

What was America like before the automobile? What were the expectations of those living at the time? Why did the automobile become such an American obsession? What is the future of a transportation mode that has defined American life for over a century? Is our love affair with the automobile over?

Barry Dressel specializes in urban and technological history. He served as director of Detroit’s historical museum system where he developed the “Motor City” exhibition, as well as chief curator of the former Baltimore City Life Museums and developer-director of the Walter P. Chrysler Museum at Chrysler’s corporate headquarters. A hands-on automobile hobbyist, he has interacted with industry CEOs, designers, race car drivers, union leaders, advertising and marketing figures, and descendants of auto company founders. He has participated in numerous auto shows and new model introductions and even as a concours event judge. His broad experiences provide unique perspective on America’s – and the world’s – fascination with the automobile.

How Do Computer Systems Work?
Peter Henderson
Tuesday, 9:30-11:30am
2 sessions
Oct. 24, 31
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

Are you curious about how computers work but concerned the details will overwhelm and confuse you? Then this lecture, which strives to explain a complicated topic so anyone can understand it, is for you!

The presentation starts with a one-minute video animation illustrating the complexity of a simple computer model for adding two numbers. Engaging interactive activities will guide you to more fully grasp the basic concepts of how computers work, without the confusing jargon, etc. The session ends with the same video, which should make much more sense.

Peter Henderson spent 34 years as an academic computer scientist and software engineer at The State University of New York at Stony Brook and Butler University. Computer science and computing education was his primary emphasis near the end of his academic career. He is a contributor to two educational columns: Math Counts and Software Engineering Education.

This course presents a brief survey of the solar system, stellar astronomy, galactic astronomy, and cosmology. A separate field observing session is planned at the Kiskiack Golf Club following the conclusion of the course.
Brad Perry is a retired NASA engineer who has accomplished graduate studies in astronomy at the University of Virginia. He has published a number of papers on astronomical objects ranging from planetary objects to novae and supernovae.

Carmen Fragapane has taught physical science in the York County School Division for 16 years. He has taken part in educational projects at the National Radio Astronomy Observatory in Green Bank, West Virginia, and supports local astronomy education and public outreach efforts throughout the Hampton Roads area.

Apollo Missions to the Moon: Stories and Scientific Results

John Delano
Thursday, 9:30-11:30am
6 sessions
Oct. 26, Nov. 2, 9, 16, 30, Dec. 7
Campus Center, Little Theatre
110 seats available

Optional after-class chat

Six Apollo missions landed on the Moon between July 1969 and December 1972. Twelve American astronauts walked on the Moon, conducted scientific experiments, and returned a total of 842 pounds of samples to Earth for analysis. This course will describe exciting stories and results associated each of those Apollo missions, including videos of the landings from the viewpoints of the astronauts themselves.

NASA's Artemis program has the goal of returning American astronauts to the Moon to construct scientific bases in lunar orbit and on the surface for a prolonged U.S. presence beginning in late 2024.

John Delano holds a Ph.D. in geochemistry. He retired in 2016 from the University at Albany (SUNY) as a Distinguished Teaching Professor; was a NASA-funded researcher for more than 30 years; was an associate dean; and served as a member and/or chair of more than 20 NASA advisory panels. He is the author of nearly 70 articles in professional journals and a recipient of the university’s Lifetime Achievement Award in Public Engagement.

NEW! Man or Superman? The Life of Alexander Von Humboldt (1759-1859)

Thomas Thompson
Tuesday, 1:30-3:30pm
1 session
Oct. 31
Campus Center, Room 159
50 seats available

Who is the greatest explorer of the 19th century and one of the greatest of all time? His name is Alexander Von Humboldt.

Arguably called the “father of the modern ecology movement,” his contemporaries held him in high regard: Said Simón Bolivar: “The real discoverer of South America was Humboldt, since his work was more useful for our people than the work of all conquerors.”

Charles Darwin: the “greatest scientific traveler who ever lived.”

Wilhelm von Humboldt (brother) remarked, “Alexander is destined to combine ideas and follow chains of thoughts which would otherwise have remained unknown for ages.”

Claude Louis Berthollet (French scientist and inventor): “This man is as knowledgeable as a whole academy.”

Thomas Jefferson: “…the most important scientist whom I have met.”

And Robert G. Ingersoll (American writer): “He was to science what Shakespeare was to the drama.”

Humboldt traveled throughout South America and Mexico, examining, drawing, and writing. He climbed Mt. Chimborazo in Ecuador to 19,286 feet, with no oxygen and no modern clothing.

European-born, he visited the U.S. for just six weeks in 1804. But the timing of that visit and the people he met helped shape American art and culture during the 19th century. More places in America are named for Humboldt than any other person.

275 seats available

America has the most comprehensive and powerful military in the world – and the Department of Defense continues to plan for threats and scenarios 30 years in the future.

Amazing new weapons systems are coming soon to counter potential threats from Russia, China, North Korea, Iran, and others in the war against worldwide terrorism. Among new technologies in development are those to counter high-risk threats like Russian and Chinese hypersonic and space weapons. We will discuss dozens of new systems and the latest government priorities and funding. This is a follow-on course to “America’s Weapon Systems” (offered this term and last Spring), which is strongly recommended prior to taking this course.

John Hickok is teaching several courses this semester. See p. 37.

Thursday, 9:30-11:30am
3 sessions
Nov. 16, 30, Dec. 7
In person; Location to be announced
20 seats available

$15 materials fee
Optional after-class chat

Have you ever tried a recipe that worked perfectly one time, then failed spectacularly the next? Do you understand why chefs insist boiled potatoes must be started in cold water, then slowly raised to a simmer? Do you fear the very scary “egg foam”? Join CIA-trained Chef Whitney Matthews and science nerd Kelly Shaw as they use science, experiments, and culinary know-how to demystify some of the most common kitchen failures faced by home cooks.

Bring $15 exact cash or check payable to William & Mary to the first class to cover the cost of materials.

Suggested reading: The Curious Cook: Kitchen Science and Lore by Harold McGee

After graduating from Virginia Military Institute, Chef Whitney Matthews attended the Culinary Institute of America and earned an associate’s degree in culinary arts. After an entrepreneurial career in San Antonio, she returned to Virginia, and now serves as COO of Internet startup Taste Supply, helping independent specialty food producers successfully build online marketplaces.

Algorithms
Peter Henderson
Thursday, 9:30-11:30am
1 session
Dec. 7
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

Algorithms are becoming more pervasive in our everyday lives, mostly due to computers. But they are not a new concept – one classic algorithm was developed by the Greek mathematician Euclid (323-283 BC).

So, what is an algorithm? Some simple examples will be presented.

There are numerous algorithms for solving the same problem, but some perform better than others. Indeed, there is an entire class of inherently hard problems for which no efficient algorithms exist.

We’ll also talk about the rise of social media algorithms, including a basic understanding of how they work and built-in bias.

Peter is also teaching a course about how computer systems work. For information and his bio, see p. 39.

Osher Wants YOU: Be an Instructor for Osher at W&M
Veteran Instructors
Thursday, 1:30-3:30pm
1 session
Sep. 14
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

.Optional after-class chat

If you’ve thought about teaching an Osher class but wonder what is involved or how to proceed, then this class is for you.

In this two-hour session, a panel of veteran Osher instructors will answer your questions and explain how to get started. These colleagues will guide you through the process of becoming an instructor and proposing a course.

They will provide insight into the kinds of courses our members like and the best teaching methods for adult learners. They will help you figure out how to organize, deliver, and present your course.

And, if you are interested, these instructors will work with you as you propose your first course and prepare to teach. Everyone has a special area of interest, hobby, and experience. Consider sharing yours with Osher at W&M members. You’ll wonder why you waited so long!

Creative Crafting with a Cricut® Cutting Machine

Discovery 3, Classroom
10 seats available

$10 materials fee; read below

Move over Martha Stewart! In this three-session series, participants will learn the “ins and outs” of a Cricut® (pronounced “Cricket”) machine while creating three make-and-take projects.

This class is perfect for beginners as well as experienced crafters who want to expand their skills and celebrate their creativity. Bring your best ideas and basic computer knowledge for hands-on lessons in designing and creating paper, vinyl, and heat transfer projects. Each participant will leave with a personalized journal, a custom note/greeting card, and a monogrammed makeup or pencil bag. Cricut machine and all crafting supplies are provided.

Bring $10 cash or check payable to William & Mary to the first class to cover the cost of materials.

Rita Lysher is a lifelong crafter who retired to Williamsburg in 2020 with her husband. A former biology and chemistry teacher from Fredericksburg, she now finally has time to dedicate to adventures with grandchildren – as well as crafting and sewing. She has created hundreds of personalized gifts and cards using a Cricut Explore machine and has taught Cricut crafting to friends and at Piedmont Community College.

Thursday, 1:30-3:30pm
1 session
Oct. 5
Discovery 3, Classroom
25 seats available

Have you wondered how a Service Dog becomes ready to work with their human partner? What stages does a puppy pass through to become the trusted partner of a person with disability?

Participants in this class will follow the growth of little pups into fully trained, skilled Service Dogs. Participants will use printed materials, hear shared experiences from actual Puppy Raisers, and, of course, enjoy the visual aid of real puppies and Service Dogs in class!

Participants will also engage in a discussion of “real” Service Dogs and the access they have while on the job in public and learn to distinguish various categories of working dogs.

This is a special opportunity to be close to these lovable heroes in training as well as their mature, skilled working counterparts, while expanding our appreciation of their special place in our community.

NEW! From Seed to Bloom: The Joy and Satisfaction of Growing Flowers from Seed
Anne Brennan
Thursday, 1:30-3:30pm
1 session
Oct. 12
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

The reward of growing a tiny seed from germination to full bloom is unmistakable. This introductory classroom lecture shows how to start cut flowers from seed and what to do after germination. Cut flowers are beautiful for bouquets or arrangements and can be grown in pots, on the patio, balcony, or in one’s yard or flower beds.

We will discuss seeds from the easiest to most challenging; supplies needed to get started; how to sow seed; all about water; the ins and outs of transplanting; hardening off; transferring outdoors; and watching your garden grow. Each topic will be discussed in do-it-yourself detail using best practices for success.

The course is designed for beginners, but all gardeners of all experience levels will find beauty and joy here.

Anne Brennan has had a patch of flowers and vegetables everywhere she has lived, from USDA Zones 5a-9a. Her love affair with flowers began in her grandmother’s garden with the discovery of peonies at age 5. Finding a Queen Elizabeth rose at her first home led to a subsequent love affair with Virginia’s Zone 7a. Anne completed her Master Gardener’s certification at the University of Tennessee (also Zone 7a) and sees each of her yards as adventures in new flower combinations, pathways, shade and sun beds, and color. Anne’s love of flower gardening grows each year with new reading, plantings, and visits to other gardens. Her own gardens are never done.

What is Fascism? A Historical Analysis
Donald Schilling
Tuesday, 1:30-3:30pm
3 sessions
Sep. 12, 19, 26
Discovery 3, Classroom
40 seats available

In our current political moment, the term fascism has been used with much greater frequency. Many have wondered, “To what degree are western democracies now being transformed by fascist or fascist-like movements?”

The purpose of this class is twofold: first, to analyze the fascist movements that became powerful in the interwar period, most especially in Italy and Germany, and thus help us better answer the question posed in the title of this course; second, to examine several contemporary political developments to assess whether fascism is an accurate descriptor in these cases. Some reading will be required. This includes documentary materials and several article excerpts.

Donald Schilling has a Ph.D. in modern European history from the University of Wisconsin-Madison and spent 41 years teaching courses in this subject area at Denison University, including Confronting Evil: The Holocaust in History, The Rise and Fall of Nazi Germany, and The Origins and History of World War II.

NEW! Tet 1968: The Crossover Point
Alan Stark
Wednesday, 9:30-11:30am
3 sessions
Sep. 13, 20, 27
School of Education, Room 1056
40 seats available

On January 30-31, 1968, the People’s Army of Vietnam and the National Liberation Front attacked South Vietnam. The “Tet Offensive”
This class will cover the key events of the Vietnam War leading up to Tet, and the planning that preceded the offensive from both Communist and Allied standpoints.

We will examine Hanoi’s real goals for launching the attacks, the reasons why U.S. decision makers and military leaders were caught off guard, and missteps made by Communist forces that all but eliminated success. We will also consider the media’s role before, during, and after Tet to determine the validity of revisionist historians’ claims that the press turned victory into defeat.

Finally, we will discuss the “mini-Tets” that followed the January offensive and their impact on future U.S. and Vietnamese strategies.

Alan Stark has a B.A. in history from the University of Southern California and an M.A. in contemporary East Asian history and an M.B.A. from UCLA. He has been a teaching assistant in Japanese history and a guest lecturer in modern Chinese history. He also worked 18 years at Wells Fargo primarily in online technologies and security.

On June 28, 1914, a young Serbian nationalist assassinated the heir to the Austro-Hungarian empire. From this relatively innocuous event the world unintentionally stumbled itself into the greatest conflict in history up to that time: the First World War.

This course provides a military history of that conflict in six parts: How it all began, the early disastrous battles in Europe, the war at sea, the air war, the war in the colonies and Africa, the collapse of the armies of Europe into a disastrous war of attrition, and finally, how it all ended and what the importance of all of it would be.

In doing so, we will debunk myths associated with this conflict and replace them with a factual basis for understanding what was arguably the most important event of the 20th century.

Bill Riffer is a retired career submarine officer with a lifelong interest in military history. In addition to at-sea commands, he served as Atlantic Submarine Force chief of staff for tactics, training, and doctrine. He holds degrees in nuclear engineering, national security policy, and international relations.

NEW! Geography and Warfighting in Vietnam

Paul Severance
Friday, 9:30-11:30am
1 session
Sep. 29
School of Education, Room 1056
40 seats available

This presentation will address the principal physical geographic aspects of the Battle of the Ia Drang Valley in November 1965 (America’s first major engagement in Vietnam) and the Battle of Khe Sanh January-July 1968, both considered to be “defining” military operations that occurred during the Vietnam Conflict.

The lecture will also consider strategic and operational imperatives driving military operations in Vietnam. The underlying foundation of this presentation is that geography is a “First Principle” in the planning, resourcing, and execution of major military operations. 2023 marks the 50th anniversary of the U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam — likely a significant historic moment for many Osher members.

John Rogers

Campus Center, Little Theatre
110 seats available

The War of the Roses was, in fact, three interconnected civil wars over a 30-year period by two branches of the ruling Plantagenet Family – Lancaster and York. (In its own time, the War of the Roses was called “The Cousins War”; the principal participants were all cousins.

The war was initially a struggle over the governance of England, but ultimately became a fight over the throne itself.

The War of the Roses could have ended peacefully more than once but the war was driven onward by three strong-willed women: initially Margaret of Anjou, called the “She Tiger of Anjou” (Henry VI’s queen); later by Elizabeth Woodville (Edward IV’s queen); and ultimately by Margaret Beaufort (Tudor). Margaret schemed to secure the support of Lancastrians and disencharcted Yorkists for her son Henry’s efforts to overthrow Richard III and to seize the throne for himself.

In Iraq, Al Qaeda – aka the 9/11 terrorists – turned into an even more extreme group called the Islamic State (IS). In January 2011, the Middle East exploded into the Arab Spring, including a civil war in Syria, a follow-on blitzkrieg attack on Iraq by the IS in June of 2014 and the standup of an IS caliphate.

IS has been soundly defeated in both Iraq and Syria, but not throughout the world, and especially not Afghanistan. Now dozens of other countries in the Middle East are at war or on the verge of exploding. How did the IS arise? Why do Muslims in the Middle East hate the West so much? 1 session
Oct. 25
Campus Center, Little Theatre
110 seats available

The history of Viking-Age England is filled with larger-than-life characters, great kings and warriors, peaceful interactions, and possibly even dragons in the sky.

This course will examine the period between the attack on Lindisfarne Monastery in 793 to what is often called “The end of the Viking age” with Harald Hardrada’s death at Stamford Bridge in 1066. We will explore Danish/Norse society, material culture, and warfare, and how the invaders left an imprint on England that endures to this day. We will also take a look at how the Vikings and Anglo-Saxon populations of England mutually influenced each other and created an Anglo-Scandinavian culture that had aspects of both societies.

Before she passed away in 1974, Felicia Bornstein Lubliner wrote about her internment in ghettos and concentration camps in Nazi-occupied Poland, powerful stories published by her son, Irving.

He will share excerpts from Only Hope: A Survivor’s Stories of the Holocaust, shedding light on his mother's experiences and indomitable spirit, as well as his own experience as a child of Holocaust survivors and his process in bringing the book to fruition.

Susanne Severeid, host of an Emmy-winning PBS documentary on the Holocaust, said this about Felicia Bornstein Lubliner: “A gifted writer, she weaves beauty and humanity into her writing without sparing the grim details of the horrors of Auschwitz and the Holocaust.”

The instructor invites you to travel back in time, to follow his mother into the concentration camps, and to learn about the Holocaust through her writings.

Irving Lubliner is a national Osher presenter and professor emeritus at Southern Oregon University (SOU), where his specialty was mathematics education. During his 40-year career, he taught at all levels – kindergarten through graduate school – led seminars for teachers in 39 states and gave over 350 conference presentations. Since retiring in 2014, he has taught math, music, and literature classes for SOU’s Osher Institute. In 2019, he created Felabra Press and published his mother’s writings about her experiences during the Holocaust, the book that will serve as the theme for this presentation.

The Angevin Kings and Queens of England 1154-1216: Myths and Realities
Stuart Butler
Friday, 9:30-11:30am
3 sessions
Oct. 27, Nov. 3, 10
Campus Center, Little Theatre
110 seats available

Was Henry II the impetuous and vengeful king as portrayed in books, novels, and movies?

Did he order Thomas Becket’s murder? Was Eleanor the power-seeking queen who led her sons’ revolt against her husband?

And what about Henry’s and Eleanor’s sons? Was Richard I England’s greatest king because of his exploits in the Third Crusade? Was John the most evil of English Kings or was he just much maligned and misunderstood by his biographers? Did he in fact cross swords with the likes of Robin Hood, and did he sign the Magna Carta?

Stuart Butler attended Florida State University and Florida Atlantic University and has an M.A. degree in American history. He retired as assistant branch chief of the Old Military and Civil Archives Branch from the National Archives and Records Administration. He has a lifelong interest in English history and has presented a similar course in the Anglo-Norman kings for Osher.

NEW! The Bayeux Tapestry
Martin Cox
Wednesday, 9:30-11:30am
1 session
Nov. 8
Campus Center, Little Theatre
110 seats available

What is it about the Bayeux Tapestry that makes it possibly the most widely known symbol of Early Medieval Northern Europe? From movie references to upholstery covers to internet memes, the Tapestry is instantly recognizable. This massive artwork created by the nimble fingers of seamstresses almost a millennium ago is one of the world’s great cultural heritages.

This course will examine the historical context of the Tapestry, the artistic styles and techniques used in its creation, and the ways in which it provides a history of the Battle of Hastings while informing us about 11th century culture.

The course will conclude by looking at other lesser-known period embroideries and examining the Tapestry’s fascinating history over more than 900 years.

Martin Cox is teaching another course this term on Viking Age England. Read his bio on p. 47.

NEW! War in the Skies: Europe 1939-1945
Buck Beasom

150 seats available

This course traces the development of military aviation, the designers and fliers who participated in that development, and how that process led to the greatest clash of machines in the history of warfare.

We follow the Luftwaffe, the RAF, and the USAAF through their early years, learn how each enjoyed its “Finest Hour,” and explore how innovation, bravery, folly and – ultimately – American industrial might decide the war.

This course has extensive images, animated graphics, and embedded video from historical sources, TV miniseries, and Hollywood films.

For this collaborative Zoom session with Drake University (Des Moines, IA), the instructor provides all participants with a downloadable syllabus, 50-page aircraft encyclopedia, cast of characters, aircraft chart, bibliography, and a grid with a section for each slide for those who wish to take notes.

Buck Beasom teaches courses for Osher Lifelong Learning Institutes across the country. He has a two-track career that includes four decades in data management and applications development while he also taught courses in business, accounting, and economics. He also spent five years teaching history at the middle- and high school levels. He holds a B.S. in management science with additional majors in history and economics, as well as an M.B.A. in accounting.

Registration Checklist
Is your registration complete? Be sure to include:
□ This Registration Form  □ Signed and dated Participation Agreement (p. 50)  □ (optional) Parking Permit Form (p. 51)
□ Check payable to William & Mary (include parking fee, if applicable)
I acknowledge that I am at least 18 years of age and intend to participate in courses, lectures, workshops, tours, events, and/or activities (“the Program”) offered by the Osher Lifelong Learning Institute at William & Mary (“Osher at W&M”) for the Fall 2023 semester, September 11–December 15, 2023. By signing below, I agree to abide by the policies, procedures, and protocols of Osher at W&M as provided here and in the Fall 2023 Course catalog during my participation in the Program, whether as a member, instructor, co-instructor, community volunteer, guest, or other associate.

Participation Parameters
Osher at W&M seeks to create a vibrant learning environment where participants engage in free, open, and amicable discourse in a safe and supportive environment. Our community of learners, instructors, volunteers, and staff embodies a wide range of experiences, cultures, abilities, and perspectives. Intellectual honesty, mutual respect, courtesy, and civility are the foundation of the Program. I understand that engaging in disruptive conduct, including aggressive behavior, use of obscenities or profanity, failure to follow the direction of an Osher at W&M official, or harassment or discrimination of any kind may result in the termination of this agreement and my ability to participate in the Osher at W&M Program. Information about current membership fees and the registration process is provided in the current course catalog. I acknowledge and agree that Osher at W&M reserves the right in its sole discretion to cancel any element of the Program at any time.

Assumption of Risk – Program Participation
Participation in the Program and selection of specific coursework is voluntary, and individuals should assess their own readiness and ability to engage in the activities described before registering for a course. Courses may include travel to off-site locations and engagement in events and facilities managed by third parties for which Osher at W&M has no oversight or responsibility. Activity-based coursework may involve low-impact exercise, and outdoor coursework may involve uneven terrain and exposure to the elements, all of which include the risk of falling, strain, or overexertion. Cooking or food-based courses may involve use of products that constitute allergens for some people. I agree to stop any activity and request assistance if I experience symptoms such as dizziness, fatigue, shortness of breath, pain, or any other condition(s) that would make it difficult or unsafe to continue. I acknowledge that none of Osher at W&M’s courses constitute physical therapy or the provision of medical treatment or advice. With regard to tours, field trips, events, or travel programs, I agree to follow all instructions given to me by Osher at W&M staff or instructors.

I further understand and agree that the College of William & Mary, Osher at W&M, and the Commonwealth of Virginia do not provide any indemnification or insurance coverage, such as life, accident, automobile, or health insurance coverage for the Osher at W&M Program, courses, tours, events, activities, travel programs, and clubs.

Consent for Use of Image and Information
As a member of Osher at W&M (or as a non-member attending a member event), I give my permission to: 1) take and use without payment, any photographs, slides, or films of myself, as may be needed for public relations purposes, marketing/advertising, press releases, website development, or training purposes; 2) I further understand that my name and contact information will be distributed to Osher at W&M staff and Osher at W&M instructors in order to conduct classes, programs, and activities; and 3) I give my permission to receive emails from Osher at W&M unless I provide written notification to opt out.

Release of Liability
By signing below, I acknowledge that my participation in the Osher at W&M Program is strictly voluntary and I knowingly assume all risks thereof, including any financial or other obligations I incur as a result of any medical care I receive during or in connection with the Program, and release Osher at W&M and the College of William & Mary in Virginia, and their officers, directors, employees, and agents, from responsibility for any and all injuries or damages caused by the inherent risks of the activity and/or the negligence, recklessness, or intentional acts of myself and/or any third parties.

I knowingly bind myself my heirs, executors, and representatives and agree that if any of the provisions of this agreement become invalid, illegal, or unenforceable in any respect under any law, such provision shall be changed and interpreted to best accomplish the objectives of such provision within the limits of applicable law.

2023-2024 PARKING REGISTRATION
Parking & Transportation Services Office  W&M Campus Center, 104 Jamestown Road  757-221-4764

Do you need an Osher parking permit for Fall 2023?

YES, if you have classes at any ON-CAMPUS location AND you do NOT intend to park & pay on your own (e.g., public lot or street parking)

Parking is free at most off-campus locations. See Catalog p. 55 for class locations.

A valid W&M Osher parking permit is needed to park on-campus. For the 2023-24 academic year, Osher members have two permit options. Both permits types are valid from August 2023 through August 2024:

- Osher Standard permit ($16). Valid only for School of Education student lots 1, 2, 4 & 5 and Kaplan Arena student lots. Also required to park in ADA spaces on campus.
- Osher Plus permit ($41). Includes the standard Osher hang tag to park at SOE and Kaplan PLUS riding privileges on the WATA Route No. 8 (Green Line) bus. The No. 8 bus runs a continuous loop from SOE to the Grad Complex and back with stops near Old Campus and the Campus Center, Keck Lab, and McCormack-Nagelsen Tennis Courts. Refer to p. 4, 55 to learn more.

As a courtesy, members who apply for either type of permit during early registration can pick up their permit at the Osher office September 5-8 from 9am-4pm. After July 26, only Plus parking permissions are processed by the Osher staff. After July 26, members applying for a Standard $16 Osher permit should go to the Parking & Transportation Services office at the address above to buy it.

ADA: An Osher hang tag plus your state-issued handicapped placard or license plate allows you to park in any available campus space EXCEPT those marked Reserved, Service Vehicle, Reserved for a Special Event, or designated for the Passport app.
