D.C. SEMESTER PROGRAM
FALL 2022

Experiential Learning in the Nation’s Capital for All W&M Students!

PROGRAM BENEFITS

Prepare for the job you want with a full-time internship that reflects your personal and professional goals

Build your professional network and build confidence as you engage with alumni in the D.C. area through our mentorship program and hear from a diverse lineup of guest speakers

Test drive postgraduate life by balancing work and life, navigating city living, and working your 9-to-5 as an intern

Learn to market yourself and your skills through mock interviews, intimate networking opportunities, and more in our tailored professional development courses

PROGRAM FEATURES

Pay the same tuition as you would for a semester on W&M’s main campus

Stay on track by fulfilling 14 credits and meeting COLL requirements

Receive individual and personal support from the entire Washington Center team and faculty throughout your professional and academic experience in D.C.

Live in student apartments in downtown D.C. (optional)

ACADEMIC OVERVIEW

The D.C. Semester Program features hybrid courses that make the most of D.C.’s national and international relevance and are interdisciplinary and experiential by design.

Students will receive instruction from a select group of W&M faculty and W&M Washington Center staff. Professors combine lectures, group discussions, alumni panels, guest speakers, and site visits to immerse students in course topics and themes.

All semester students will take 4 courses:

New Religious Movements in America - 3 Credits (RELG)
- COLL 200 CSI, COLL 350
- September 5 - October 17

Legal Process in a Global Perspective - 3 Credits (GOVT)
- COLL 300 (pending EPC approval)
- October 24 - December 5

Washington Program Internship - 6 Credits (INTR)
- September 5 - December 5

Washington Professional Reflection - 2 Credits (INTR)
- September 5 - December 5

INTERNSHIP PROGRAM & SUPPORT

Students will have access to the Washington Center’s robust network of W&M alumni and employer partners throughout the internship search process. Students will work one-on-one with the semester program coordinator to find an internship that merges their skills and professional interests.

During the semester, students will work a full-time internship Monday-Thursday, in any area or industry of their choosing. Students are given the time, space and flexibility to immerse themselves in their professional experiences.

Interested?
Submit your brief profile at wm.edu/dc/apply