WASHINGTON CENTER

March 2022

After a year-long celebration marking the W&M Washington Center's 20th anniversary, we want to thank everyone who engaged with us in 2021 and supported our mission to serve the W&M community over the years. As we move forward into the new year and our new space, we have a lot to be excited about and so much to share. We hope you enjoy reading the first of our quarterly newsletters in 2022 and continue to find a place of belonging with W&M Washington Center this year and beyond.

The W&M Washington Center is positioned to play an exciting role in reaching several university-wide goals over the next five years.

ALUMNI FEATURE GWEN S. GREEN '04

Gwen S. Green is a prime example of how incredible W&M alumni are, and we are taking this opportunity to highlight her awesome contributions to the Washington Center.

Gwen graduated from William & Mary in 2004 with a B.A. in public policy and government. She then received her J.D. from Harvard Law School in 2007 and is now an of counsel in the Washington, D.C., office of Holland & Hart LLP, concentrating on international trade and regulatory compliance matters. Gwen is a leader on various boards and in 2015, she began mentoring students in the W&M D.C. Semester Program. Her insight, advice and support helped undergraduate students make the most of their time in D.C. and consider their careers after graduation. These relationships make a true difference in the lives of W&M students — Study in D.C. programs are successful as a direct result of alumni engagement like Gwen's.

Gwen joined the Washington Center Advisory Board in July 2021. She immediately became engaged in fundraising to support the Study in D.C. Scholarship Fund and recently became the leader of the Board's One Tribe One Day working group. Under her leadership, great things are coming on April 12 and more students will be able to receive D.C. scholarships because of her efforts.

Thank you, Gwen, for all you do — for W&M, the Washington Center, our community and our students. We are grateful for your leadership and are lucky to have you on our Advisory Board!
