Teresa Longo is Dean for Interdisciplinary Studies in Arts & Sciences and Director of the Charles Center for Academic Excellence. She is a Professor of Hispanic Studies in the Department of Modern Languages and Literatures and contributes to William & Mary's Latin American Studies Program and to the COLL curriculum. Longo’s course offerings at William & Mary have included: Human Rights and Representation, Local/Global Issues, Issues in Mexican Culture, Urban Images, and The Idea of the University. Her courses engage the literary arts within a global, cultural studies framework. As a scholar, Longo works on the relationship between Latin America and the United States as it is articulated culturally. She recently published the book Visible Dissent: Latin American Writers, Small U.S. Presses and the Political Imagination. She is the editor of Pablo Neruda and the U.S. Culture Industry.
