

W&M Summer Program in Cape Town, South Africa Summer 2027

Estimated dates (subject to change): July 5 –August 1, 2027

GEO will work with the host institution/onsite partners to confirm dates in fall 2026, resulting in possible changes from estimated dates.

Size of Program: The Cape Town Program has recently varied from 14 to 20 students:
In light of COLL300, programs are designed to be accessible to as many eligible students as possible. Group size is determined based on an overseas partner's ability to accommodate and support groups. This program has a maximum capacity of 25 students, and has been competitive in some years.

Host Institution/Organization: CIEE

Overview of Program One W&M faculty member serves as program director (PD) and teaches a 3-credit course in the program. All PDs teach a 1-credit preparatory course in spring 2027.

Onsite courses and credits: Students earn 7 credits on-site, taking the Director's course, one 3-credit course taught by local faculty, and a 1-credit isiXhosa course. Students receive W&M grades and credits for these courses; courses may not be taken pass-fail. Option to have service-learning component for W&M faculty course may be possible.

Prerequisites: There are no academic prerequisites for this program.

Housing: students live in a local hotel rented by the onsite partner institution and are provided meal stipend each day.

Excursions/Activities: Local partner organization staff will pre-arrange all program related excursions. Past excursions have included the Cape Peninsula, as well as visits to historically significant sites such as Robben Island and the District 6 Museum.

COLL300 All W&M programs teaching undergraduate students are expected to meet COLL 300 requirements. Course content will not be the only or the main consideration when evaluating the COLL 300 designation; other aspects of programs such as activities and excursions will also be considered. Academic experiences include the course, assignments, course-related excursions, guest speakers or local faculty, engagement with members of the local community, and co-curricular cultural activities connected to the objectives of COLL 300.

The approved language for COLL 300 is as follows:

"COLL 300 courses explore the diverse perspectives and socio-cultural values of people and communities of countries outside the geographical boundaries of the United States, and/or within the geographical boundaries of the United States for the study of sovereign Native nations, indigenous communities, and five US territories or sub-national entities.

COLL 300 directly connects students with people, places, and ideas that enhance their comprehension of different ways of thinking and being in the world. Students synthesize their knowledge, their emerging expertise in framing questions for analysis, and their communication skills to engage global issues in a self-reflective, cross-cultural way.

Students will be able to:

- demonstrate an understanding of how people across cultures and societies experience the world
- make connections between those perspectives and course content
- analyze how cultural and societal differences manifest globally
- reflect on their own identity as global citizens COLL 300"

COLL 300 experiences will ideally join students with people, places, and ideas (all three).

COLL 300 courses should have a self-reflective assignment built into them. (Approved by FAS March 2021.)"
