Nanodays: The Center for Materials Research at Norfolk State University presented Nanodays at the Children's Museum of Virginia in Portsmouth on April 5th. Amy Wilkerson, Lab Manager, accepted an invitation to participate in this public outreach event again this year. Amy, along with Brandt Robertson, set-up a table that included a microscope with kid-friendly specimens of various sizes for examination and science related brochures and hand-outs for the children to take home. Abby, Amy's granddaughter, thoroughly enjoyed all the hand-on activities and even assisted the children with the microscope at the WM table.
